CONVENTION PROGRAM

CEC 2018 SPECIAL EDUCATION CONVENTION & EXPO
Tampa | February 7–10

ALL EDUCATORS. EVERY CHILD. NO LIMITS.

Gain meaningful access to the general education curriculum using n2y’s unique special education solutions.

The right SOLUTION for your students.
The Florida School for the Deaf and the Blind is a tuition-free state public school and outreach center available to eligible Pre-K and K-12 students who are deaf/hard of hearing or blind/visually impaired. At FSDB, students discover how to do more, be more, and achieve more for lifelong success.

Assessing Students With Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities?
New Tools Available from the Association on Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities

Diagnostic Adaptive Behavior Scale
User’s Manual

Marc J. Tassé, Robert L. Schalock, Giulia Balboni, Henry (Hank) Bersani, Jr., Sharon A. Borthwick-Duffy, Scott Spreat, David Thissen, Keith F. Widaman, and Dalun Zhang

The Diagnostic Adaptive Behavior Scale (DABS) is an instrument for assessing the adaptive behavior of people between the ages of 4 and 21 for the purpose of determining whether the person meets the second criterion for a diagnosis of intellectual disability (ID), that is, significant limitations in adaptive behavior as expressed in conceptual, social, and practical adaptive skills. The DABS is a norm-referenced instrument with a number of unique features that support its precision, accuracy, validity, and credibility in making a diagnosis of ID. The instrument comprises 75 items for each of three age groups (4-8, 9-15, and 16-21). It is scored by means of an online scoring platform available on the AAIDD web site (aaidd.org/dabs).

Supports Intensity Scale—Children’s Version (SIS—C)™

James R. Thompson, Michael L. Wehmeyer, Carolyn Hughes, Karrie A. Shogren, Hyojeong Seo, Todd D. Little, Robert L. Schalock, Rodney E. Realon, Susan R. Copeland, James R. Patton, Edward A. Polloway, Debbie Shelden, Shea Tanis, and Marc J. Tassé

The Supports Intensity Scale—Children’s Version (SIS—C)™ is a standardized measure of the intensity of support needs of children aged 5-16 who have been diagnosed as having intellectual or closely related developmental disability (IDD). SIS—C data is gathered through a structured interview, and standard scores are generated to create a Support Needs Profile for the child. The product package for this assessment tool includes both interview forms and a manual to enable users to administer and score the SIS—C with fidelity, and to interpret and use the findings in ways that will enhance planning processes and outcomes for children with IDD. Interview questions cover: exceptional medical and behavioral needs; and activities at home, in the community and neighborhood, and in school participation and learning, as well as health/safety and social activities and advocacy. The SIS—C represents a powerful way to inform and supplement the IEP and ensure that students with IDD receive the supports they need to help them live and learn successfully.

ROOM OVERCROWDING/FIRE CODES
We try to schedule popular topics in rooms large enough to accommodate potential attendance. Please note that there are approximately 30 meetings convening at any given time during the convention. Please select alternative sessions in advance so that you can quickly move to another session if you are unable to arrive early enough to get a seat at your first choice. For your safety and to adhere to fire regulations, meeting rooms that have been filled to capacity will be restricted thereafter. Standing room is not an option.

SMOKING
The CEC Convention & Expo is a nonsmoking event. Smoking is prohibited in the Convention Center and the hotels.

FOLLOW US! CEC 2018 Convention & Expo is on TWITTER @CECconvention. Let us know about your experiences at the convention. Be sure to include #CEC2018 in your tweets to be part of the conversation.

CEC DISCLAIMER: Reference herein by any speaker and/or exhibitor regarding commercial products, processes, or service does not necessarily constitute or imply the Council for Exceptional Children’s (CEC) endorsement or recommendation. The views and opinions of any speaker and/or exhibitor expressed herein do not necessarily state or reflect those of CEC, and shall not be used for advertising or product endorsement purposes.

Council for Exceptional Children
Event Rules & Conditions

All attendees for workshops, conventions, or other events of the Council for Exceptional Children (“CEC”) agree to comply with all rules and conditions of the Event, including all rules in the event program, all future correspondence, and as may be posted at the event.

Attendees of any Convention activity must wear the official event name badge. Name badges are required for admission to all events.

Event registration may not be used for advertising, promotions, giveaways, sweepstakes, or other trade purposes without express written consent of CEC.

Event attendees must behave responsibly at all events. Threatening physical actions and disorderly or disruptive conduct will not be tolerated and may result in removal from the event, denial of access to event facilities and other penalties.

Event attendees voluntarily assume all risk and danger of personal injury (including death) and all hazards arising from, or related in any way to the event, whether occurring prior to, during, or after the event, howsoever caused and whether by negligence and or otherwise. Rules and conditions are subject to change without notice.

Event attendees may not under any circumstances conduct any live or recorded audio, video, or photographic activities without the express permission of the CEC Executive Director.

Event attendees grant permission to CEC (and its designees and agents) to utilize the attendee’s image, likeness, actions, and statements in any live or recorded audio, video, or photographic display or the transmission, exhibition, publication, or reproduction made of, or at, CEC events in any medium or context for commercial or promotional purposes without further authorization or compensation.

Professional Development Hours

You can earn CEC Professional Development Hours (PDHs) for all the education sessions you attend.

● WHAT ARE CEC PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT HOURS (PDHs)?

One professional development hour (PDH) represents one clock hour spent in a planned continuing education experience that is relevant to the profession or discipline of special education, is developed from explicit learning outcomes, conducted by qualified instructional personnel, and designed to reflect principles of good practice in adult education.

● WILL CEC PDHS COUNT TOWARD MY LICENSE OR CERTIFICATION REQUIREMENTS?

Many states accept CEC professional development activities toward their requirements, but some do not. Check in advance with the relevant credentialing authorities in your state.

Florida Educators: If your program accepts PDHs, there are 600+ sessions (included with a full registration) and 24 workshops (additional fee required) at CEC 2018 that may be used toward meeting your ESE requirement. You will need to check with your district to ensure that you are documenting your participation in accordance with the recertification policies.

● WHAT WILL MY PDH TRANSCRIPT INCLUDE?

Your transcript will list all the sessions you attended and reported, the duration in hours of each one, and the total number of PDHs you earned. Your PDH transcript will be accompanied by a certificate of attendance.

● WHAT CONVENTION ACTIVITIES CARRY CEC PDHS?

You can earn CEC PDHs for all convention education sessions, including convention workshops, presentations with Q&A, panels, posters, strands, and town hall meetings. Activities that are not eligible for PDHs include meetings, exhibits and exhibit showcase sessions, social events, and awards ceremonies. You may earn up to 23 hours by attending eligible sessions.

● WHAT ARE THE REQUIREMENTS TO RECEIVE CEC PDHS?

• You must be registered for the convention.
• You must attend a session in full to claim it for PDHs.
• For poster sessions, you should engage with poster content for the full 45 minute time block to earn PDHs. (The reporting system will not allow you to claim two sessions that overlap in time.)

● HOW WILL I CLAIM CREDIT?

• After the convention ends, you’ll log into the CEC web site and enter each convention session you attend. Specific instructions will be provided to registrants.
• You’ll have through September 30, 2018, to enter all your sessions.
• Be sure to keep good personal records of all the sessions you attend. There is no charge to use the tracking system, receive a transcript, or receive CEC PDHs.

● NEED TO EARN ACADEMY FOR CERTIFICATION OF VISION REHABILITATION AND EDUCATION PROFESSIONAL (ACVREP) CE CREDITS?

CEC’s Division on Visual Impairments and Deafblindness will be sponsoring Academy for Certification of Vision Rehabilitation and Education Professional (ACVREP) continuing education credits for Certified O&M Specialists (COMS), Certified Low Vision Specialists (CLVT), and Certified Vision Rehabilitation Therapists (CVRT). Continuing education credits can be earned in the DVIDB-sponsored presentations only. Please see the DVIDB representative at each session to complete paperwork for these continuing education units.

● ILLINOIS RESIDENT? YOU CAN EARN ISBE HOURS AT CEC 2018 TAMPA.

Please stop by the Professional Development Hour (PDH) Booth in the CEC registration area (Level 2) to get more information.
CEC 2018 Program Chair Featured Sessions

Claudia Rinaldi and Cindy Perras, CEC 2018 Convention Program Chairs, have planned a rich and substantive invited program. Join experts in the field of special education and related disciplines and participate in the dialogues on current and relevant topics.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 8

1:00 PM–2:00 PM  SESSION: 5  ROOM BALLROOM B

Challenges to Equity in Assessment, Placement, and Outcomes in Special Education

Leader: Wendy Cavendish, University of Miami, FL
Presenter: Beth Harry, University of Miami, FL

This session presents research findings from national-, district-, and community-level approaches to reducing overrepresentation of students of color in special education. We discuss national trends in disproportionality and highlight parent and teacher voices related to assessment and placement practices to examine the intent of equity-based policy versus implementation.

After attending this session, you will be able to:
1. Discuss strengths and challenges identified in 3 research studies related to the implementation of policy to create more equitable outcomes for often marginalized students and families.

3:00 PM–4:00 PM  SESSION: 19  ROOM BALLROOM B

Self-Determination and Students With Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities

Leader: Michael Wehmeyer, University of Kansas, Lawrence
Presenter: Stelios Gragoudas, University of Massachusetts, Boston

This session will provide an overview of the ‘state of the art’ with regard to the importance of and the evidence-base for measuring and promoting the self-determination of youth with intellectual and developmental disabilities. Information provided will be based upon research, practice, and personal experience with disability.

After attending this session, you will be able to:
2. Understand the importance of promoting self-determination from research and personal experience.
3. Identify evidence-based practices to measure and promote self-determination.

2:15 PM–3:15 PM  SESSION: 19  ROOM BALLROOM B

Intensive Interventions and the Future of Learning Disabilities

Leader: Sharon Vaughn, The Meadows Center for Preventing Educational Risk/UT, Austin
Presenter: Rebecca Zumeta Edmonds, American Institutes for Research, Washington, DC

A primary aim of special education is to improve academic and behavioral outcomes for students with disabilities. Yet many of these students currently receive inadequate treatments that do not support their full access to the general education setting or adequate learning opportunities for the future. This session provides specific guidance on improving academic and behavioral outcomes through the provision of intensive interventions for students with disabilities.

After attending this session, you will be able to:
1. Understand how intensive intervention may be used to provide specially designed instruction to students with and at risk for disabilities, especially learning disabilities.
THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 8

9:45 AM–10:45 AM  SESSION: 59  ROOM: BALLROOM A

Update From OSERS Assistant Secretary

Leader: Deborah Ziegler, Council for Exceptional Children, Arlington, VA

Presenter: Kimberly Richey, Office of Special Education and Rehabilitative Services (OSERS), U.S. Department of Education

OSERS Assistant Secretary will provide an update on the recent work of OSERS, and discuss a number of recent and ongoing initiatives of the office and upcoming priorities. Topics include OSERS’ Q&A relating to the Endrew F. v. Douglas Country School District RE-1, the Secretary’s Supplemental Priorities, OSER’S new discretionary grant projects funded under Part D of IDEA, OSER’S work to implement the Every Student Succeeds Act and the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act, OSERS’ ongoing efforts to implement Executive Order 13777, “Enforcing the Regulatory Reform Agenda,” and review OSER’S regulations and non-regulatory guidance as a part of the Regulatory Review Task Force. Q&A time at end.

After attending this session, you will be able to:
1. Understand the recent work of OSERS, a number of recent and ongoing initiatives of the office, and upcoming priorities.

11:00 AM–12:00 PM  SESSION: 101 • ROOM 15

Integrating Mindfulness Into Education and Healthcare: The Science and Practice

Leader: Elli Weisbaum, University of Toronto, Canada/The Hospital for Sick Children (SickKids)

Explore the scientific perspective that is driving the current interest and popularity of mindfulness practice in education and healthcare settings. Participants will experience hands-on foundational mindfulness practices to gain practical understanding of the potential impacts that mindfulness can have on their personal and professional daily life.

After attending this session, you will be able to:
1. Understand the connection between neuroscience and mindfulness-based interventions.
2. Explore the connection between mindfulness practice, resiliency, and self-regulation.
3. Identify practices to combat workplace burn-out and stress.
4. Develop and experience foundational mindfulness tools that can be applied in personal and professional settings.

1:00 PM–2:00 PM  SESSION: 155 • ROOM 15

Getting to the STEM of Co-Teaching

Leader: Lisa Diicker, University of Central Florida, Orlando

Presenters: Claudia Rinaldi, Lasell College, Newton, MA; Matthew Taylor, University of Central Florida, Orlando

This session will focus on co-teaching in STEM content reflecting best practices with an emphasis on second language learners, students with intellectual disabilities, and students with a range of learning and behavioral challenges. Come enjoy this session filled with practical ideas.

After attending this session, you will be able to:
1. Understand the unique challenges and ways teams are meeting the needs of students in STEM.
2. Gather strategies for second language learners and a range of students with varying abilities.
3. Create a plan to use at least 3 of the numerous practical ideas in your STEM co-teaching.

1:00 PM–2:00 PM  SESSION: 165  ROOM: BALLROOM A

ESSA and IDEA: Working Together to Improve Outcomes for All Students

Presenter: Ruth Ryder, Acting Director, Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP), U.S. Department of Education

School systems across the nation are working to prepare diverse learners for success both in the classroom and after graduation. Leveraging resources and coordinating support across programs at the state, district, and school levels is a key strategy to effectively improve outcomes to meet the needs of all students. For those implementing the ESSA and the IDEA, passage of ESSA creates new opportunities to implement such coordinated efforts between the two laws. During this session, you will hear about collaborative work in the U.S. Department of Education to review ESSA state plans and the 1% alternate assessment participation waivers.

After attending this session, you will be able to:
1. Understand the collaborative work in the U.S. Department of Education to review ESSA state plans and the 1% alternate assessment participation waivers.
Measuring Implementation and Fidelity of Implementation in Rt/MTSS
Leader: Russell Gersten, Instructional Research Group, Los Alamitos, CA
Presenter: Joseph Dimino, Instructional Research Group, Los Alamitos, CA

This session will discuss issues in current conceptions of fidelity of implementation that are problematic and demonstrate means to improve fidelity measures and to examine quality of instruction during intervention. Specific examples from research on vocabulary instruction and intervention, fractions instruction and comprehension intervention will be included.

After attending this session, you will be able to:
1. Understand why it is essential to measure quality of implementation, not just procedural fidelity.
2. Learn techniques for developing such measures.
3. Learn about available measures that examine quality of instruction in areas such as vocabulary and comprehension.

Program Chair Featured Roundtable: Addressing the Elephant in the Room: Strategies for Maltreatment Prevention and Intervention
Leader(s): Catherine Corr, University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign (DEC); David Cihak, University of Tennessee, Knoxville (DADD)
Presenter(s): Debra Lively, Saginaw Valley State University, University Center, MI (DCDD); Kelly Carrero, Texas A&M University, Commerce (DDEL)
Introductions: Cindy Perras, Learning Disabilities Association of Ontario, Canada

The Interdivisional Caucus of the Council for Exceptional Children (IDC) is a caucus of the 17 discipline and specialty areas of CEC. In 2014, the IDC established the Maltreatment Workgroup. This Workgroup has identified “bright spots” to prevent, intervene, and support individuals with disabilities who have experienced maltreatment. This interactive session begins with a panel presentation, which will highlight divisional work focused on practical interventions and prevention strategies across the lifespan. Following the panel presentation, solutions-oriented roundtable discussions will convene to seek input from session participants on standards, policy, position papers, and practices.

After attending this session, you will be able to:
1. Generate ideas to support individuals with disabilities in overcoming the challenges they face in school and professional lives.
2. Identify strategies to strengthen the capacity of their school, professional development, and/or program to support educators with disabilities.

Highlights From the National Center for Special Education Research: Recent Findings and New Research on Teachers and MTSS
Presenter: Joan McLaughlin, National Center for Special Education Research, Institute of Education Sciences, U.S. Department of Education, Washington, DC

The National Center for Special Education Research (NCSER) funds research on infants, toddlers, children, and youth with and at risk for disabilities to advance the understanding of and practices for teaching, learning, and organizing education systems. In 2018, NCSER plans to fund a network of researchers focused on integrated academic and behavioral Multi-tiered Systems of Support. These new areas of research funding will be discussed in addition to highlights from prior projects and available resources from the Institute of Education Sciences.

After attending this session, you will be able to:
1. Understand new areas of NCSER funding for research.
2. Understand prior NCSER projects and available resources from the Institute of Education Sciences.

Voices From the Field: Educators With Disabilities
Leader: Jennifer Diliberto, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill
Presenters: Mary Ruth Coleman, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill; Susan Osborne, North Carolina State University, Raleigh; Marge Terhaar, Meredith College, Raleigh, NC; Kathryn Haselden, Francis Marion University, Florence, SC

The panel includes educators with disabilities. Session facilitators lead discussions surrounding strategies used to breakdown barriers related to their disabilities and how their disability supports their teaching. The facilitators will ask structured questions and take questions from the audience. We end by summarizing insights gained based on themes presented.

After attending this session, you will be able to:
1. Generate ideas to support individuals with disabilities in overcoming the challenges they face in school and professional lives.
2. Identify strategies to strengthen the capacity of their school, professional development, and/or program to support educators with disabilities.
FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 9

9:45 AM–10:45 AM  SESSION: 301  ROOM: BALLROOM A

What’s Happening in Washington - Session I: Updates from OSEP

Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP) Acting Director Ruth Ryder will discuss current OSEP initiatives including Results Driven Accountability and the Endrew F. v. Douglas County School District Case Q&A document. She will also discuss recent investments to support children with disabilities, including critical work to expand high-quality early learning programs. Finally, Ms. Ryder will provide updates on the Department’s work to implement the Every Student Succeeds Act and the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act.

9:45 AM–11:45 AM  SESSION: 302  ROOM: BALLROOM D

Exceptional Lives, Exceptional Stories

Leader: Jennifer Diliberto, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Presenters: Mary Ruth Coleman, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill; Marge Terhaar, Meredith College, Raleigh, NC; Kathryn Haselden, Francis Marion University, Florence, SC

The panel includes YIC Award recipients and their families. Session facilitators lead discussions surrounding life with a disability. The facilitators will ask structured questions as well as take questions from the audience. In closing, we will summarize insights gained from discussions and reserve time for informal conversations with the panelists.

After attending this session, you will be able to:
1. Understand the ways a disability affects an individual’s daily life.
2. Identify strategies for working with parents of individuals with disabilities.

9:45 AM–10:45 AM  SESSION: 314  ROOM: 16

Program Chair Featured: What I Wish General Educators Knew About the 1 in 5: A Review of The Literature

Leader: Sheldon Horowitz, National Center for Learning Disabilities, New York, NY

Most students with learning and attention issues spend most of their day in general education classrooms, and teachers often struggle to achieve positive outcomes for this population. Learn about an in-depth review of the mindsets, knowledge and skills of general educators that is informing NCLD’s work supporting the 1 in 5.

After attending this session, you will be able to:
1. Understand and reflect upon what general education teachers currently know, think, and believe about students with learning and attention issues.
2. Share insights and offer feedback about what general educators need to know to provide high quality instruction and support to this population of students.

1:30 PM–2:30 PM  SESSION: 406  ROOM 3

Research to Practice: Tips and Tools for Beginning Special Educators

Leader: Timothy Landrum, University of Louisville, KY

Presenters: Chris Sweigart, University of Louisville, KY; Lauren Collins and Bryan Cook, University of Hawaii at Manoa, Honolulu; Timothy Lewis, University of Missouri, Columbia; Jennifer Freeman and Michael Coyne, University of Connecticut, Storrs; Diane Myers, Texas Woman’s University, Denton; Tom Scruggs and Margie Mastroperlo, George Mason University, Fairfax, VA; Sharon Vaughn, The Meadows Center for Preventing Educational Risk/UT, Austin; Angelique Aitken, Arizona State University, Tempe; Ashley Barkel, Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College, Arizona State University, Tempe; David Allsopp, University of South Florida, Tampa

Authors from a 2017 special issue of Teaching Exceptional Children offer specific guidance for beginning special educators in classroom management, intensive reading interventions, writing, mathematics, and co-teaching. Each panelist describes (a) two empirically supported practices, (b) three reliable resources, and (c) one final thought for the beginning special education teacher.

After attending this session, you will be able to:
1. Learn about key, empirically validated and recommended practices from expert scholars in reading, mathematics, classroom behavior, writing, and co-teaching. Each panelist describes (a) two empirically supported practices, (b) three reliable resources, and (c) one final thought for the beginning special education teacher.
2. Learn about key resources for evidence-based practices across these areas.
3. Take away final thoughts from these scholars on how beginning special educators in particular, can be successful in their early years of teaching.
1:30 PM–2:30 PM  SESSION: 426  ROOM BALLROOM C

Making Educationally Appropriate and Legally Sound Placement Decisions
Leader: Mitchell Yell, University of South Carolina, Columbia
Presenters: Antonis Katsiyannis, Clemson University, SC; Mickey Losinski, Kansas State University, Manhattan

A foundational principle of the IDEA is that students with disabilities receive a FAPE in the LRE. Unfortunately, placement issues can be difficult for IEP teams to navigate. We will offer guidance and suggestions to ensure that IEP teams make educationally appropriate and legally sound placement decisions.

After attending this session, you will be able to:
1. Understand the three most important decision points in making student placements.
2. Understand legal requirements in placement determination.

2:45 PM–4:45 PM  SESSION: 460  ROOM: BALLROOM D

Solution Oriented Roundtables on Culturally Linguistically Diverse Students with Disabilities
Moderator: Claudia Rinaldi, Lasell College, Newton, MA

The Solutions-Oriented Bilingual English Learners With Disabilities Roundtable will bring 12 experts in the field of bilingual special education to address general education, special education instruction and intervention, English language development in special education, assessment and progress monitoring of ELs, and culturally relevant IEPs. Learn from researchers, state leaders, district and school leading educators, and teacher preparation experts in the field of bilingual special education. The goal is for participants to take back solution-oriented, evidenced-based practices that can be applied to close the research-to-practice divide. Come, join the expert that best fits your greatest need and engage in discussion about the relevant topic to you—all in one room.

After attending this session, you will be able to:
1. Leave with solution-oriented, evidenced-based practices that can be applied to close the research-to-practice divide.
2. Leave with a better understanding of the topics discussed by the experts in bilingual special education (general education, special education instruction and intervention, English language development in special education, assessment and progress monitoring of ELs, and culturally relevant IEPs).

SITUARDAY, FEBRUARY 10

9:15 AM–10:15 AM  SESSION: 633 • ROOM 21

UDL, Design Thinking, and Makerspaces: An Innovative Approach to Curriculum Design
Leader: Elizabeth Hartmann, Lasell College, Newton, MA
Presenter: Jose Blackorby, CAST, Inc., Wakefield, MA

In this interactive session, participants will be introduced to two important approaches to improving inclusive education through thoughtful curriculum design: Universal Design for Learning (UDL) and design thinking.

After attending this session, you will be able to:
1. Understand how UDL and design thinking can be used to move beyond curriculum access to provide all learners with engagement in the general education curriculum.
2. Create a simple circuit in the context of a makerspace activity to apply UDL and design thinking to the process of developing curriculum for all learners.
Program Chair Featured: Learner Ready Day One: Systemic Approaches to Preparing and Supporting New Teachers

Leader: Mary Brownell, CEEDAR Center, University of Florida, Gainesville

Presenters: Erica McCray, University of Florida, Gainesville; Margaret Kamman, University of Florida, Gainesville

To ensure that new special education teachers are learner ready day one, teacher educators and district personnel must approach the task of developing and supporting new teachers differently. We discuss how practice-based approaches to teacher education can create stronger connections between preparation and induction and help develop and retain effective special education teachers.

After attending this session, you will be able to:
1. Develop understanding of why practice-based approaches are critical to preparing effective special education teachers, especially those from underrepresented groups.
2. Show how partnerships between teacher educators and districts can strengthen practice-based approaches and ensure support for retaining effective special education teachers.

NOTES
Reading isn’t just an enjoyable pastime. It’s an absolute necessity.

Which is why Wilson has been exclusively committed to literacy for nearly 30 years. Wilson works collaboratively with school districts of all sizes across the country, to develop and implement achievable, sustainable plans that ensure teacher and student success. Our ongoing commitment to teacher support makes Wilson stand out. In fact, a growing body of research confirms what teachers and their students repeatedly tell us: “Wilson Works!”

Strands

Thursday, February 8

9:45 AM–2:00 PM • ROOM 23

STRAND A: Research Focused on Improving Outcomes for Students With Disabilities in Elementary and Middle School: Highlights From Projects Funded by the National Center for Special Education Research

LEADER(S): Joan McLaughlin and Sarah Brasiel, National Center for Special Education Research, Institute of Education Sciences, U.S. Department of Education

This strand will present research results and implications for educational practice from five rigorous studies, including studies to iteratively develop and pilot test new interventions and randomized controlled trials to evaluate the efficacy of fully developed interventions. Studies to be presented focus on improving the academic outcome of elementary and middle school students with or at risk for disabilities either directly through student-level interventions or indirectly through teacher professional development. The presenters are researchers funded by the U.S. Department of Education’s National Center for Special Education Research in the Institute of Education Sciences. The study participants are diverse and represent a range of ages, disability categories, and need for additional supports. Recommendations for practice include programs and instructional practices specifically targeted to improve writing, math, and vocabulary outcomes for students with or at risk for disability.

Strand A Sessions: 56, 109, 162

9:45 AM–2:00 PM • ROOM 25

STRAND B: Culturally Responsive Teachers, Classrooms, and Schools

LEADER(S): Denise Whitford, Purdue University, West Lafayette, IN

Roughly half of public school children and youth are classified as culturally and linguistically diverse (CLD), whereas less than 10% of their teachers and administrators are classified as CLD. This difference in backgrounds can have an impact on student expectations, achievement, and general outcomes. The literature regarding the implementation and outcomes of culturally responsive practices is substantial. Our strand will provide evidence and practical strategies for culturally responsive implementation at the individual, classroom, and schoolwide levels, and in preservice teacher preparation. We will focus on in-depth content coverage regarding culturally responsive practices in three areas: (a) individual and classroom implementation, specifically in relation to literacy instruction, (b) schoolwide implementation, specifically in relation to SWPBIS, and (c) preservice teacher preparation, specifically in relation to adequately satisfying accreditation standards. The first session will focus on the importance of culturally relevant literature in our classrooms. The authors will give examples of how commercial literature can be used to enhance children’s view of themselves and to build social skills. Most of this session will be devoted to describing how the author and her professional team created a curriculum of culturally relevant passages for African American students in urban schools and how these stories were used to improve reading fluency and comprehension. Empirical data will be used to verify these positions. The second session will focus on the effort and experiences of the research team in obtaining African American parents’ and students’ input to develop culturally responsive social skill curriculum for teaching schoolwide expectations to elementary African American students. Content of the session will include the importance of blending cultural responsiveness and SWPBIS, development of culturally responsive social skill curriculum based on parents’ and students’ input and cultural perspectives, and implementation of the culturally responsive instruction in supporting African American students’ learning. The third session will focus on the integration of cultural responsiveness in teacher preparation programs, particularly with an eye toward accreditation. Content of the session will include detailed information and resources that teacher preparation programs can use to facilitate the in-depth development and long-term use of cultural competency among preservice teachers. The strand will focus on culturally responsive pedagogy which will directly impact learners, families, and educators of diverse groups.

Strand B Sessions: 58, 111, 164

STRAND C: Low-Intensity Strategies to Support Behavior for School Success

LEADER(S): Kathleen Lynne Lane, University of Kansas, Lawrence

The presenters in this strand provide step-by-step instruction on three low-intensity, teacher-delivered strategies integrated into everyday instructional practices: active supervision (AS), behavior-specific praise (BSP), and high-probability request sequence (HPRS). General and special educators may benefit from learning feasible, proactive strategies with empirical support to suggest if implemented with integrity, they will yield desired shifts in student performance. These three strategies have been shown to increase academic behaviors (e.g., on-task, completion, accuracy) and reduce inappropriate behaviors (e.g., off-task, disruptive, noncompliance). To prevent problem behaviors before they occur and to reinforce prosocial behaviors, schools are adopting tiered prevention models such as comprehensive, integrated, three-tiered (Ci3T) models of prevention and positive behavioral interventions and supports (PBIS). You will learn how AS, BSP, and HPRS can be implemented for all students (Tier 1), some students (Tier 2), and a few students (Tier 3) by both general and special educators. You will also understand the importance of using multiple sources of schoolwide data collected within regular school practices to connect students to supports such as these three strategies and learn how to implement strategies with integrity. Relying on data facilitates equal access for all students to needed supports, regardless of student culture, race, disability, gender, or other demographics.

Strand C Sessions:  160, 211, 263

1:00 PM–4:30 PM • ROOM 22

STRAND D: Autism in Focus: What Works, What Doesn’t, and How to Know the Difference

LEADER(S): Jordan Shurr, Central Michigan University, Mount Pleasant; Jason Travers, University of Kansas, Lawrence; Kevin Ayres, University of Georgia, Athens

Autism is a hot topic both within and outside of special education. Although there is benefit in the surge of public interest in topics related to autism, increased attention does not always equate to accurate information. This strand will focus on current key topics related to autism. Each presentation will address the issue from both a practical and research-based viewpoint to describe the issue and the context, as well as to provide practical tips and resources for use by school personnel. In the first session, presenters will discuss current controversy and issues regarding applied behavior analysis (ABA) as well as its research base as an effective practice. Session two will focus on prevalent and some lesser known autism interventions which lack a research base and include information for understanding and identifying unsubstantiated and/or dangerous practices. The third and final session will provide strategies for locating, identifying, and evaluating research-based practices, as well as examples of effective research-based practices for students with autism. Specific attention will be given to aspects of diversity when understanding and applying research-based practice.

Strand D Sessions:  161, 212, 264
Friday, February 9

9:45 AM–2:30 PM • ROOM 23

STRAND E: OSEP IDEAs That Work: Highlighting Practices and Resources to Improve Outcomes for Children With Disabilities

LEADER(S): Larry Wexler and Renee Bradley, Office of Special Education Programs, U.S. Department of Education, Washington, D.C.

The U.S. Office of Special Education Programs, Research to Practice strand will once again highlight critical issue topics in special education and early intervention. The individual sessions will focus on highlighting the transfer of the best we know into classrooms, natural environments, schools, and communities. Leading researchers and practitioners from around the country, supported by the IDEA Part D National Programs, will present evidenced-based findings, practices, resources and technology that will lead to improved outcomes for children with disabilities and their families. Each session will begin with an overview to set the national context for the topical issue, an overview of current evidence, next steps in practice, and resources for follow up. Sessions are designed for practitioners, school and district leaders, early intervention providers, and teacher trainers and are designed as stand-alone sessions so you can attend one or all of them. Time will be scheduled for question and answers and resources will be shared in each session.

Strand E Sessions: 321, 374, 423

9:45 AM–2:30 PM • ROOM 25

STRAND F: Where Have We Been and Where Are We Going in Supporting Children and Youth With Emotional and Behavioral Disorders

LEADER(S): Timothy Lewis, University of Missouri, Columbia

The bleak postsecondary outcomes for children and youth with emotional and behavioral disorders (EBD) and those at-risk are well documented. Longitudinal research reports that over half of students with EBD drop out of school and less than half of those that remain graduate with a diploma. Students with EBD, in comparison to other students with disabilities and typically developing children and youth, also experience the highest rates of unemployment, substance abuse, homelessness, and mental health issues. This strand will present a series of sessions examining systematic review of past research and make recommendations for future research and the adoption of evidence-based practices, using What Works Clearinghouse and CEC standards. The content of the strand’s sessions include (a) the current state of evidence supporting practices for students with challenging behavior, (b) limitations in the knowledge-base and recommendations for future research, (c) implications for policy, and (d) implications for practitioners. Across the strand, implications for researchers and practitioners will be a focal point. In addition, issues of disproportionality and overrepresentation of minority students related to exclusionary discipline practices and to challenging behavior will be discussed.

Strand F Sessions: 323, 375, 425
1:30 PM–5:00 PM • ROOM 22

STRAND G: From Stranger to Ally: Building and Maintaining Trusting Family-Professional Partnerships

LEADER(S): Tracy Gershwin Mueller, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley; Kathleen Kyzar, Texas Christian University, Fort Worth

Research indicates educators lack instruction specific to IEP meeting practice and the development of collaborative family-professional partnerships. Given this, it is not surprising educators have rated partnerships with families as a key occupational challenge. If not addressed, this discrepancy between on-the-job educator expectations and IDEA mandates for parent participation may become a source of family-professional conflict. This strand will inform participants of (a) the results of a national survey on the status of pre- and inservice professional development specific to family-professional partnerships and (b) research-based family-professional partnership practices that are designed to be embedded within existing pre- and inservice professional development programs. Sessions will be led by members of the Family Research Committee of the CEC Division for Research and will emphasize culturally responsive practices designed to address diverse family needs.

Strand G Sessions: 422, 478, 530

1:30 PM–5:00 PM • ROOM 24

STRAND H: How to Reach Hard to Reach Students Using Intensive Intervention: An In-Depth Look at How Team Building, Data Analysis, and Intensification Processes Can Impact Student Outcomes

LEADER(S): Louis Danielson, American Institutes for Research, Washington, D.C.

This strand will discuss practical recommendations educational decision makers should consider when working to meet the needs of all students in today’s schools through the use of data-based decision making and implementation of intensive intervention. Presenters will discuss lessons learned from more than two decades of national implementation efforts, review tools and strategies, and provide guidance to practitioners seeking to efficiently impact outcomes for students who demonstrate severe and persistent academic and behavioral needs. To achieve these objectives, the content of this strand will include models for aligning academic and behavioral interventions, resources for systematically intensifying instruction for students who have not responded to previous interventions, a review of available tools intended to streamline the decision-making process for intervention teams, and efficient and effective strategies for data collection, analysis, and data-based decision making. Strand presenters will also focus on the importance of selecting culturally and linguistically responsive assessment and instructional tools for providing intensive interventions. Join us and learn about available tools to support your work implementing and refining intervention systems. You will also have opportunities to practice using these tools and to discuss any questions you may have about their use.

Strand H Sessions: 424, 480, 532
Saturday, February 10

8:00 AM–11:30 AM • ROOM 23

STRAND I: Integrating Transition Content Into Academic Instruction

LEADER(S): David Test, National TA Center on Transition, UNC Charlotte

Recent federal rulings (e.g., Endrew v. Douglas County) have highlighted the need for instruction to be specially designed based on the unique needs of individual students with disabilities. One way educators can meet the unique individual needs of their students is to integrate transition skills and goals within academic instruction. This strand will provide strategies from high-quality research for infusing transition skills into the academic content areas of reading, writing, science, and math for students with disabilities. Presentations will translate research behind instructional strategies, including GO 4 it Now, story-based lessons, inquiry-based science, and pictorial self-instruction, highlighting implications for educators and transition professionals. Within each content area, presenters will discuss a strengths-based approach for valuing the diversity of students, proposing transition-infused academic instruction as a means for overcoming barriers to successful postsecondary outcomes for diverse students with disabilities.

Strand I Sessions: 583, 635, 686

8:00 AM–11:30 AM • ROOM 24

STRAND J: Culturally and Linguistically Responsive RTI Literacy Instruction and Interventions for English Learners With or At-Risk for Disabilities

LEADER(S): Julie Esparza Brown, Portland State University, OR

English Learners (ELs) with disabilities continue to be disproportionately represented across states ranging from a low of 1% to a high of 30.3%. School teams often struggle with how to provide appropriate academic support to ELs, both in core instruction and intervention. Further, there is little guidance for teams when making special education eligibility decisions. Panelists from three U.S. Department of ED (OSEP) Model Demonstration Projects for Multi-Tiered Systems of Support for Culturally and Linguistically Responsive Teaching for ELs at-risk or with disabilities will share research-based strategies for instruction and intervention that address their language and literacy needs. Processes for eligibility decisions for these students will also be examined.

Strand J Sessions: 584, 636, 687

8:00 AM–11:30 AM • ROOM 25

STRAND K: Moving Forward: The Path to Effective Sexual Health Education for Students With Disabilities

LEADER(S): Anna Treacy, University of Nevada, Reno; Elizabeth Harkins, University of Pittsburgh, Johnstown; Ruth Eyres, Easter Seals Arkansas, Little Rock/University of Memphis, TN; Victoria Slocum, Morehead State University, KY; Christine Scholma, Trinity Christian College, IL

The lack of knowledge regarding sexual health places students with disabilities at risk for sexual abuse and exploitation, unwanted pregnancies, and sexually transmitted diseases. Sexual health education is taught to students with disabilities reactively instead of preventively. This strand will present current research and best practice for teaching sexual health education to students with disabilities. Topics will include (a) historical context of sexual health and disability, (b) broad contextual understanding of the current policies influencing and effecting sexual health education for people with disabilities in the United States, (c) barriers to teaching sexual health education, and (d) best practice for teaching sexual health to students with disabilities. The discussion of diversity in this strand will include arising policy issues and barriers in relation to intersectionality, gender, sexual orientation, and disability. Resources and handouts will be provided to participants regarding sexual health education curriculum by disability category as defined in IDEA 2004. Models of curriculum will be presented that use self-determination and collaboration to promote the sexual health of students with disabilities.

Strand K Sessions: 585, 637, 688, 734

MARCIA TATE
OPENING GENERAL SESSION SPEAKER

Join CEC President Laurie VanderPloeg to honor CEC’s best and brightest with our annual professional awards. Following the awards program, attendees will enjoy an energizing session with Marcia Tate.

Don’t know what a dendrite is? You will after you attend the CEC 2018 Opening General Session. Marcia Tate will have you on your feet and ready to use brain-based teaching strategies when you get back to your classroom.

Marcia is a renowned education leader who will inspire you to make the most of every day with your students. Get ready for learning strategies that you can implement immediately!

Once the session concludes all attendees are invited to the Expo Hall for refreshments and fun at the President’s Reception.
CONVENTION WORKSHOPS

WORKSHOP 1

Caring for Everyone (Including Yourself!): Social-Emotional Competence for Special Educators

WED., FEB. 7 • 9:00 AM–4:00 PM • ROOM: 10

There’s no arguing that a positive learning environment for students is one of the most important factors in their success. And one of the most important factors in creating a positive learning environment is building your own social-emotional competence (SEC).

In this workshop, based on one of the most popular sessions at CEC 2017, you’ll learn about the research base behind SEC, teacher resilience, and student outcomes. You’ll practice mindfulness-based exercises that build teacher resilience and strategies for improving SEC, and develop skills to help you during the school day as well as at the end of a rough day. You’ll demonstrate how you can apply these practices to improving classroom management and de-escalation practices.

After this workshop, you will be able to:

- Identify at least three characteristics associated with teacher social-emotional competence and at least three ways that teacher social-emotional competence impacts students.
- Explain the connection between teacher mindfulness and social-emotional competence.
- Implement at least five applications of teacher social-emotional competence in your routine practices.

LEADER(S): Brandi Ansley; Kris Varjas; David Houchins, Georgia State University, Atlanta

WORKSHOP 2

Administrators: What You Need to Know About Special Education

WED., FEB. 7 • 9:00 AM–4:00 PM • ROOM: 13

This workshop is designed for administrators and focuses upon the main issues of special education: The rise in EBD, disproportionality, how to identify other health impaired, 504, accountability, discipline, preventing litigation, word choice, and least restrictive environment. The more an administrator knows for both general and special education—the better the overall services will be for children with disabilities. The materials of the workshop are based on the contents and research behind the book, “A Principal’s Guide to Special Education, Third Edition,” published by CEC.

After this workshop, you will be able to:

- Have clear strategies for preventing litigation relating to special education.
- Understand your role in serving students with 504 plans.
- Understand your role in identifying students as eligible for OHI.
- Understand your role in serving students with emotional and behavioral disorders.

LEADER(S): David Bateman, Shippensburg University, Shippensburg, Pa.
WORKSHOP 3

WED., FEB. 7 • 9:00 AM–4:00 PM • ROOM: 5

Paraeducators have been increasingly employed to deliver an array of special education services. They typically have little or no formal preparation for their duties. Additionally, paraeducators often work with teachers who do not have preparation in supervising them. The session provides research based tools and resources for teachers to be effective in their supervisory role. In this interactive session, presenters will share research based paraeducator supervision content, tools, and resources that can be used by special and general education teachers and administrators to appropriately guide and direct the work of paraeducators.

After this workshop, you will be able to:

- Recognize the importance of preparing teachers (special and general education) to supervise paraeducators as evidenced in literature.
- Demonstrate the use of the CEC paraeducator standards in supervising paraeducators.
- Discuss the research-based content on paraeducator supervision that needs to be delivered to teacher candidates and teachers.
- Acquire tools and create action plans for effective paraeducator supervision that teacher candidates and teachers can use.

LEADER(S): Ritu Chopra, The Paraprofessional Resource and Research Center at University of Colorado, Denver; Caron Westland, University of Colorado, Denver

WORKSHOP 4

College Transition: Knowledge and Skills Students Need to Make the Shift Successfully

WED., FEB. 7 • 9:00 AM–4:00 PM • ROOM: 7

Studies show that teacher preparation programs cover little information related to college services, and few even cover it at all. Thinking that colleges don’t offer anything may discourage students from attending college, and believing that they provide every service that students had in high school might not properly prepare students for the transition. Laws and expectations at the college level are different, but with the proper preparation and understanding, students can be successful! Learn what really happens at college and what skills students need to do well in this exciting new environment.

After this workshop, you will be able to:

- Explain why shifting laws as students move from high school to college can mean certain accommodations will not be available.
- Identify which accommodations students are likely to find available at college, and which they are not.
- Identify the skills and knowledge associated with college success for students with disabilities.
- Explain what kinds of disability services are available at in rough category (e.g., Level I services, Level II) and how to research these at students’ target schools.

LEADER(S): Elizabeth C. Hamblet, Columbia University, New York, N.Y.
WORKSHOP 5
The Highly Engaged Inclusive Classroom: Two Minute Strategies to Boost Student Achievement

WED., FEB. 7 • 9:00 AM–4:00 PM • ROOM: 9

Creating an engaging classroom environment to support the learning of all students having access to the general education curriculum can be a challenge for educators. Active learning tasks support the brain research on the release of dopamine and neurotransmitters that can motivate every learner in your class to be intellectually engaged. Integrating two minute active learning strategies assists students to store and retrieve information, increase their energy levels, and help with positive social interactions in the inclusive classroom. Proactive planning to incorporate these opportunities for students to be directly involved in their learning can result in positive student outcomes.

After this workshop, you will be able to:

• Identify the instructional components required for student engagement.
• Define student engagement.
• Learn and experience “2 minute” active learning strategies.
• Understand how to choose strategies to meet individual student needs.

WORKSHOP 6
Designing Behavior Intervention Plans within a Multi-Tiered-System Framework

WED., FEB. 7 • 9:00 AM–4:00 PM • ROOM: 12

Learn strategies to work collaboratively to design and implement interventions for students with chronic behavioral or motivational problems. Participants will learn to design a “Problem Profile” on an individual student and design function-based early-stage interventions. Next, participants will learn how to select interventions with greater intensity (if needed) for helping the student improve his/her behavior. Finally, an overview of 12 high-intensity interventions (such as self-monitoring, reinforcement systems, attribution/self-talk training, and managing physically dangerous behavior) will be provided. This is not a classroom management session—the focus is on developing behavior intervention plans for individual students.

After this workshop, you will be able to:

• Describe a process for organizing information about a student to create a “Student Profile” that can be used to design a function-based intervention plan.
• Identify and describe five “early-stage” interventions for individual students that can be implemented by all teachers.
• Describe a protocol for matching the problem to an intervention.
• Identify and describe twelve “highly structured” interventions that can be designed and implemented collaboratively by educational teams (general educators, special educators, counselors, school psychologists).

LEADER(S): Randy Sprick, Safe & Civil Schools, Eugene, Ore.
WORKSHOP 7
Developing Legally Defensible IEPs

WED., FEB. 7 • 9:00 AM–4:00 PM • ROOM: 11

The U.S. Supreme Court has recently referred to the Individualized Education Program (IEP) as the “centerpiece” of the IDEA’s education delivery system for students with disabilities. In accordance with the Court’s updated two-pronged test for determining whether an IEP is appropriate, hearing officers and courts will look to both the procedural and substantive components of the IEP. Let’s examine many common pitfalls that educators must avoid—both procedurally and substantively—in an effort to ensure that IEPs are legally defensible.

After this workshop, you will be able to:

• Recognize common procedural and substantive mistakes made in the development of IEPs that have significant legal implications.
• Participate appropriately in IEP meetings.
• Facilitate IEP team members and meetings in a way that will assist in avoiding legal disputes.

WORKSHOP 8
CEC Program Recognition Report Developer Workshop

WED., FEB. 7 • 9:00 AM–4:00 PM • ROOM: 1

In this interactive workshop, you will learn the components of CEC Preparation Program Recognition Reports. All participants will receive CEC program developer resources. You will come away better prepared to develop program performance-based assessments, align them with the CEC content standards, and prepare the final program report.

After completing this workshop, you will be able to:

• Describe the CEC program recognition report process and list its essential elements.
• Develop program performance-based assessments and align them with the CEC Preparation Standards.
• Develop the program report.

LEADER(S): Joni Baldwin, University of Dayton, Ohio

WORKSHOP 9
CEC Program Recognition Report Reviewer Workshop

WED., FEB. 7 • 9:00 AM–4:00 PM • ROOM: 3

Principles for and examples of performance-based program review, and strategies for reviewing reports and for successfully writing the sections of the CEC Program Recognition Review will be discussed.

• After completing this workshop, you will be able to:
  • Explain the steps and components in reviewing a CEC Preparation Program Recognition Report.
  • Ensure that program assessments align with the major elements of the CEC Preparation Standards.

LEADER(S): Christy Hooser, Eastern Illinois University, Charleston

WORKSHOP 10
Inclusive Technologies as an Equalizer: Practical Strategies for Diverse Learners

WED., FEB. 7 • 9:00 AM–12:00 PM • ROOM: 14

Diverse learners are found in every classroom. However, technology is seldom viewed as a tool to promote access, engagement, and academic success. The purpose of this session is to introduce participants to a technology integration approach that blends assistive technology, instructional technology, and universal design for learning into a manageable framework for busy classroom teachers. The presenter will provide participants with resources that illustrate how standards-based instruction can be used as a framework for identifying and selecting software, apps, and web sites for diverse students in grades 3-12.

After this workshop, you will be able to:

• Identify resources, strategies, and tools that reflect proactively valuing academic diversity.
• Use a search strategy that aligns the needs of diverse learners with curricular goals, with technology, media, and materials.
• Use student academic performance data to make and evaluate claims about the effectiveness of their interventions within multi-tier student support (MTSS) systems.

LEADER(S): Dave Edyburn, University of Central Florida, Orlando
◆ WORKSHOP 11
Formative Assessment in Action: Improving Learning and Including All Students

WED., FEB. 7 • 9:00 AM–12:00 PM • ROOM: 15

Formative assessment is a powerful tool that has the potential to significantly improve student learning. Learn how to confidently use key formative assessment strategies—learning targets, feedback, student self-assessment, and goal setting—and how to differentiate them to accommodate students with disabilities (including those with significant support needs) with a variety of needs and characteristics. This workshop will also discuss professional learning strategies that states, districts, and schools can use to support teachers in this work. It is based on materials developed by the Assessing Special Education Students (ASES) and Formative Assessment for Students and Teachers (FAST) groups of the Council of Chief State School Officers.

After this workshop, you will be able to:

• Successfully use key formative assessment strategies such as focusing on sharing learning targets and criteria for success, giving effective feedback, and using student self-assessment and goal-setting.
• Differentiate formative assessment strategies appropriately for students with disabilities who have a variety of needs and characteristics—including those with significant support needs.
• Understand the professional learning strategies that states, districts, and schools should have in place to support teachers in using formative assessment with all students.

LEADER(S): Sandra Hopfengardner Warren, East Carolina University, Greenville, N.C.; Sheryl Lazarus, National Center on Educational Outcomes, Minneapolis, Minn.; Margaret Heritage, National Center for Research on Evaluation, Standards and Student Testing (CRESST) at University of California Los Angeles

◆ WORKSHOP 12
Social Skills in the School Setting

WED., FEB. 7 • 9:00 AM–12:00 PM • ROOM: 16

Social Skills in the School Setting will provide participants with an overview of why assessment of social skill deficits in the school setting can be so challenging. In looking at assessment of social skills, participants will also be provided with tools to assist in differentiating social language deficits from other related difficulties. In addition, an examination of the three prongs of disability and the academic impact of social deficits will be discussed. Finally, several effective intervention strategies will be shared.

After this workshop, you will be able to:

• Outline how social skill deficits can have an adverse academic impact.
• Describe effective ways to identify social language deficits.
• State the five areas of social communication.

LEADER(S): Angie Neal, Greenville County Schools, S.C.

◆ WORKSHOP 13
Creative Classrooms: Promoting Social-Emotional Learning

WED., FEB. 7 • 9:00 AM–12:00 PM • ROOM: 17

This workshop introduces creative classroom activities that foster emotional maturity and produce positive changes for dynamic social-emotional learning. With a unifying framework, Developmental Therapy-Teaching (DTT) social-emotional growth matrix, the workshop will focus on using creative arts to engage children of every age and in every learning environment including MTSS Tiers 1, 2, and 3 for therapeutic intervention. Participants will apply the matrix to design classroom themes and activities for social-emotional growth through exploration, imagination, fantasy and make-believe, dramatic play, role-play, storybooks, storytelling, creative writing, music, art, and movement.

After this workshop, you will be able to:

• Select and design creative activities, themes, and units to match children’s developmental needs using case descriptions, pre-K to teens.
• Create teacher-made storybooks to reduce children’s developmental anxieties.
• Use dramatic play, storytelling and role play as tools for crisis intervention.
• Design creative writing/experience stories to address children’s social-emotional challenges.
• Synthesize art, music, and other creative activities into a unit with a theme and series of lessons adapted for children of a specific age and stage of social-emotional development.

LEADER(S): Constance Quirk, Developmental Therapy Institute, Athens, Ga.; Bonnie Springer, College of Charleston, S.C.
● WORKSHOP 14
Academic Supports: Adapting Content Area Curriculum and Instruction in Diverse Classrooms

WED., FEB. 7 • 9:00 AM–12:00 PM • ROOM: 18

This workshop provides pragmatically oriented strategies for helping all 4th through 12th grade students meet academic course requirements in diverse classrooms. The goal is to help teachers meet the needs of a wide range of diverse learners without watering down the curriculum. Procedures can be shared by special educators, used by classroom teachers, or employed collaboratively in general education settings. Learn to augment intermediate grade, middle school and high content area-instruction by focusing on course structure, teaching, observing, interacting positive, and providing supportive corrections.

After this workshop, you will be able to:
• Create content related passages to enhance fluency and content knowledge.
• Define three strategies to align assessment and instruction on core concepts.
• Identify four strategies for increasing active engagement of all learners, including students with special needs.
• Identify four strategies that can be used to assist students in mastering critical course content.

● WORKSHOP 15
What All Educators Must Know About Coming Changes to Special Education and Early Intervention Policy

WED., FEB. 7 • 9:00 AM–12:00 PM • ROOM: 19

In this wide-ranging session, CEC’s Policy and Advocacy Director and presenters will analyze education and early intervention policies currently under discussion in Washington, DC, review the recent changes to education policy supported by the Administration and Congress, and examine their impact on children and youth with disabilities and/or gifts and talents.

After this workshop, you will be able to:
• Understand how to monitor progress toward meeting IEP goals.
• Discuss ways to collaborate with families and enhance your participation in the IEP process.
• Understand how to use data to create individualized IEP goals, and connect goals to academic standards.
• Understand how to monitor progress toward meeting IEP goals.

LEADER(S): Catherine Creighton Martin, Fairfax County Public Schools, Va.; Clara Hauth, Marymount University, Arlington, Va.
● WORKSHOP 17

We’ve Tried Everything…Now What? Using Data to Individualize and Intensify Intervention

WED., FEB. 7 • 1:00 PM–4:00 PM • ROOM: 15

How do you support students who persistently struggle with reading, math, or behavior even after you provide high quality evidence-based intervention? Are you struggling to use data to guide instructional decisions or define your Tier 3? This session will introduce the National Center on Intensive Intervention’s (NCII) approach to intensive intervention, data-based individualization (DBI). DBI uses data to identify WHEN and HOW to adapt and individualize interventions to address a student's complex needs. Participants will review this process, identify tools and resources to support implementation, and apply content to case examples.

After this workshop, you will be able to:

- Understand the rationale and key features of intensive intervention to support students with significant academic and behavioral needs using the data-based individualization process.
- Describe the ways in which data can be used to intensify interventions and will apply this new knowledge to case examples of students struggling with complex academic and/or behavioral needs.
- Locate a variety of tools and resources that can assist with addressing the needs of students with severe and persistent learning and/or behavioral needs.

LEADER(S): Lou Danielson; Amy Peterson; Teri Marx,

● WORKSHOP 18

Specially Designed Instruction in Co-Teaching: The Key to Achieving Meaningful Student Success

WED., FEB. 7 • 1:00 PM–4:00 PM • ROOM: 16

Although co-teaching has become a relatively common way of accomplishing the dual purposes of inclusive education and curriculum access, student outcomes continue to be a concern. Whether at the elementary, middle school, or high school level, professionals report that the achievement gap is not significantly narrowing. Perhaps the most important missing ingredient that could change this situation is the integration in co-taught classes of specially designed instruction (SDI). This workshop is intended for professionals already familiar with co-teaching basics, those who would like to concentrate on how to identify appropriate SDI techniques and incorporate them into co-taught classes.

After this workshop, you will be able to:

- Distinguish among terms often used to describe instruction in co-taught classes, including universal design for instruction, differentiation, accommodation, modification, and specially designed instruction.
- Explain examples of specially designed instruction that span academics, behavior, social skills, and other domains of instruction for students with disabilities.
- Integrate research-based specially designed instruction into general education settings by applying them to the well-established six co-teaching approaches.
- Analyze issues that may arise in implementing SDI in a co-taught class, generating ideas for addressing these issues.

LEADER(S): Marilyn Friend, University of North Carolina at Greensboro
● WORKSHOP 19
Dyslexia and The Science of Reading: What Every Educator Needs to Know

WED., FEB. 7 • 1:00 PM–4:00 PM • ROOM: 17

This interactive session is designed to help educators understand firsthand the reading and writing challenges often experienced by students with dyslexia in their classroom. These students will not “catch up” without direct explicit interventions and evidence based supports. Educators need to know what to look for and how to differentiate instruction so they can support these students in a timely manner. This session will provide an in depth exploration of dyslexia, covering: Early warning signs and characteristics; information on assessment and diagnosis; and strategies for effective remediation and accommodation. Research-based dyslexia and literacy related resources will be shared.

At the end of this workshop, you will be able to:

• Use personal insights from the simulation segments to better understand student struggles.
• Acquire background knowledge on current neuroscience of typical and atypical reading development.
• Understand best practices for screening, identification, intervention and accommodation for students at-risk for reading failure.
• Identify resources to assist in building both background knowledge and practical application to support students in their classrooms.

LEADER(S): Deborah Lynam, AIM Institute for Learning and Research, Conshohocken, Pa.

● WORKSHOP 20
Understanding Students with Mental Health Needs: Strategies and Supports for Educators and Families

WED., FEB. 7 • 1:00 PM–4:00 PM • ROOM: 18

In this workshop, the presenter will introduce and define specific mental health diagnoses and what these diagnoses entail with a focus on anxiety disorders, mood disorders, OCD, PTSD/trauma, and tic disorders. For each disorder, you will engage in activities to help you understand what the student is experiencing and what strategies and supports have been found effective in school and in the student's life. You’ll explore resources for more information and join in a time for Q&A at the end.

After this workshop, you will be able to:

• Define or describe mental health disabilities (anxiety disorders, mood disorders, OCD, PTSD/trauma, and tic disorders).
• Identify strategies to address issues related to these disabilities.
• Identify strategies that are commonly used in schools but that are not helpful for children and youth who are experiencing mental illness.

WORKSHOP 21
Creating Culturally Responsive Education to Address Disproportionality: Seeking Equity

SAT., FEB. 10 • 9:00 AM–12:00 PM • ROOM: BALLROOM A

The overrepresentation of Black students, especially males, in special education has a long history. Annually, the Office for Civil Rights presents data indicating these students are overrepresented in high incidence categories (e.g., emotional and behavioral disorders). These data, juxtaposed with the lack of diversity among educators, have been viewed as a significant part of the problem. We will address teacher biases and stereotypes, including becoming culturally competent. Models and strategies are shared in this session, along with resources.

After this workshop, you will be able to:

• Identify three models of prejudice and discrimination.
• Identify two models and five areas of cultural competence.
• Identify at least five factors that contribute to overrepresentation.
• Understand how to quantify equity and set equity goals to reduce overrepresentation.

LEADER(S): Donna Ford, Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn.

WORKSHOP 22
Simple, Practical Strategies for Improving the Behavior of Students who Struggle

SAT., FEB. 10 • 9:00 AM–12:00 PM • ROOM: BALLROOM B

Students with or at risk for high incidence disabilities tend to struggle with a few broad categories of behavior, including disruption, inattention, and noncompliance. Effective intervention for these classic behavioral concerns can be built on the practical application of a few simple behavioral principles and take a positive, proactive approach. In this workshop, we guide participants through the application of four simple evidence-based strategies they can use in their classrooms, including choice, behavioral momentum, behavior-specific praise, and opportunities to respond. Participants leave with handouts and specific guidance on how to implement these procedures efficiently with their own students.

After this workshop, you will be able to:

• Identify the contexts in which behavior problems are most likely to occur in your own classroom or school.
• Describe the importance of antecedent strategies in preventing behavioral concerns.
• Plan interventions for specific problems of students in your current classroom or school.
• Implement these interventions: choice, behavioral momentum, behavior-specific praise, and opportunities to respond.

LEADER(S): Timothy J. Landrum, University of Louisville, Ky.
● WORKSHOP 23
Successful Inclusion: Combining Cooperative Learning, Differentiation, and the SIOP Model
SAT., FEB. 10 • 9:00 AM–12:00 PM • ROOM: BALLROOM C

Teachers often report feeling pressure to cover the curriculum at nearly any cost. This especially concerning in inclusive classrooms, as it may result in teachers inadvertently ignoring the special needs of students with disabilities. Research has indicated teachers need specific strategy training to successfully meet the needs of all students. This workshop will provide teachers with training in strategies to enhance the inclusion of students with disabilities in classrooms; strategies to enhance teacher usage of cooperative structure; and strategies to provide a classroom to enhance the use of language skills (the Sheltered Instruction Observation Protocol [SIOP] model).

After this workshop, you will be able to:
• Understand the importance of utilizing differentiated strategies, SIOP, and cooperative learning to engage students in content.
• Develop a lesson incorporating these learning strategies.
• Incorporate the structures into lesson plans.

LEADER(S): Nikki Murdick; Jo Nell Wood, Saint Louis University, Mo.; Amanda Wood, Wentzville School District, Mo.

● WORKSHOP 24
Activities and Supports to Improve Executive Functions for Young Learners with Special Needs
SAT., FEB. 10 • 9:00 AM–12:00 PM • ROOM: BALLROOM D

An important area of growth during the early childhood years is executive functioning (EFs) skills—the foundational building blocks of both cognitive and social capacities. Children need EFs—able to focus, hold, and work with information in mind, filter distractions, switch gears and exercise self-control—for school readiness and academic success. This workshop will demonstrate how to build, and practice EFs in young children, particularly those who have or at risk for developmental delays, through growth-promoting experiences woven naturally into everyday activities. Both educator and family roles in nurturing EFs in children will be discussed.

After this workshop, you will be able to:
• Understand the development of executive functioning in young children and how crucial these skills are for their development, learning and social competence.
• Create growth-promoting environments and personalized instructional scaffolding to develop and strengthen executive functioning in young children.
• Craft easy-to-use, learner-specific adaptations to increase access, engagement and participation of young children with disabilities to develop and practice executive functioning skills.

Reluctant Learner + Math Challenged = Camelot Learning Math Intervention

Camelot Learning has a 20 year proven record of success

Our students need

Hands-on activities and games, manipulative-rich learning, team problem solving, and active questioning

Our teachers need

ALL materials and manipulatives included for 200 lessons that easily adapt into 25, 40, and 60-minute lessons

Camelot Learning Intervention maximizes student success with continuous progress monitoring incorporating formative and standards based assessments. Camelot Learning has been used as an 1:1 intervention keeping abreast of the result of intervention with systematic use of assessment data.

Camelot Learning Intervention is used in afterschool, before school, and during the day pull-out programs. Camelot Learning has been successful with small groups up to 10.

Camelot Learning Intervention is based on Howard Gardner’s Multiple Intelligence model - linguistic, logical-mathematical, spatial, bodily-kinesthetic, musical, interpersonal, and intrapersonal intelligences.

RON SUSKIND
SECOND GENERAL SESSION SPEAKER

Ron Suskind, a respected journalist and best-selling author of six books, will join the CEC community as the Second General Session Speaker.

His work is characterized by his passion for giving a voice to the voiceless—most evident in his recent best-seller, “Life, Animated: A Story of Sidekicks, Heroes and Autism.” The book tells the story of his youngest son, Owen, who, after being diagnosed with autism, found a way to reengage with the world around him.

Seizing upon Owen’s love of animated Disney movies, the Suskind family reenacted the films with him, pioneering a now widely acknowledged method of emulative communication known as affinity therapy.

Suskind is a Senior Fellow at Harvard’s Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics, where he serves as a lecturer on narrative and justice. He is also the Founder and CEO of Sidekicks for Autism, which provides a free education app to help parents connect and communicate with their children with autism.

Come and experience an amazing story about sidekicks, heroes, and autism.

CEC Student Forum: Effective Family Engagement

Don’t miss the CEC Student Forum, THE place to be at the convention for new teachers—a session designed by students for students to get invaluable information as they start their career.

This year’s Forum will focus on one of the most important topics for any new teacher-effective family engagement. You’ll hear from expert Sean Roy of TransCen on the most important things you need to know when you meet with families, and common missteps to avoid as a new teacher. Then, a panel of family members will speak candidly about their best-and worst-experiences, and how you can make sure you’re in the former category.

• Featured Presentation
  A Valuable Partner: Setting the Stage for Effective Family Engagement

Engaging families of students with disabilities is a crucial skill for any new special educator. Unfortunately, it is common for families to be viewed as barriers to the work of education. In his remarks, long time parent advocate and national technical assistance provider Sean Roy will show the importance of compassion and understanding, and encourage family engagement through the lens of high expectations. Common pitfalls will be explained and useful strategies shared, including a “dual capacity” approach to building parent/professional connections. Cultivating a better understanding of the parent perspective and focusing on effective and respectful communication can help us move from “families are the problem” to families as valuable partners.

PARTNERING WITH FAMILIES AROUND STUDENT BEHAVIOR

TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR(S): Kathleen Kyzar, Texas Christian University, Fort Worth

• Family-Professional Partnerships Within PBIS: Results From Two Applied Studies

Interested in family-professional partnerships within PBIS? Attend this session to learn the results from 2 studies examining barriers and facilitators to partnership within PBIS, and a strengths-based consultation process for developing shared goals with families to improve students’ prosocial behavior at home and at school.

LEADER(S): Kathleen Strickland-Cohen, Texas Christian University, Fort Worth
PRESENTER(S): Kathleen Kyzar, Texas Christian University, Fort Worth

• Parents as Teachers: Virtual Collaboration to Ensure Student Success

Digital, blended, personalized, or virtual learning is changing the educational experience, especially in parent/family-teacher interaction. We illustrate ways the interaction is changing providing data and the impact on student outcomes, and also highlight the ways parent-teacher interaction is being altered in this new blended learning experience.

LEADER(S): Sean Smith, University of Kansas, Lawrence

• Utilizing Behavioral Skills Training (BST) Through Telehealth to Increase Parent Treatment Fidelity in Children With Autism

Using telehealth practices, BST was used to teach communication skills to parents with children with autism. Parents met weekly with their practitioner, through video conferencing to discuss behavioral skills to implement, and reviewed videos recorded from the previous week to discuss fidelity of implementation. Results and implications are discussed.

FACT FLUENCY THROUGH ALGEBRA: RESEARCH FINDINGS IN MATHEMATICS

TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR(S): Sarah Powell, University of Texas, Austin

- Why Fact Family Fluency? Impact on Discrete and Generalizable Math Achievement Measures
  Join us to learn about a brief, daily fluency intervention with fact families that transformed middle school students’ mathematics performance. Leave with key materials and procedures for successful implementation of this evidence-based fluency intervention.
  LEADER(S): James Stocker, University of North Carolina, Wilmington
  PRESENTER(S): Elizabeth Hughes, Pennsylvania State University, State College; Lauren Cozad, Pennsylvania State University, State College; Jared Morris, Pennsylvania State University, State College

- Using CRA to Develop Conceptual Understanding and Fluency in Multiplication and Division
  This session will describe how researchers used CRA to teach elementary students with disabilities about the relation between multiplication and division while developing fluency in basic facts. Attendees will learn about how to design similar CRA interventions to use in their own classrooms.
  LEADER(S): Jessica Milton, Auburn University, AL
  PRESENTER(S): Margaret Flores, Auburn University, AL

- Algebra-Readiness Intervention Modules for 7th-Grade Students With Mathematics Difficulties
  We report results and teaching implications from a Tier 2 randomized control trial study. Results and lesson content for three 7th-grade algebra readiness modules: Integers, Ratios and Proportions, and Expressions and Equations are discussed. Learn how mathematical misconceptions may affect learning for some students.

TAM SHOWCASE: Can the Tortoise Beat the Hare? Shining Light on an Eternal Problem Within Special Education Technology

TOPIC: Technology and Media
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The pace of innovation in the field of special education technology has always been (and will likely continue to be) far faster than the academic research and development cycle. As a result, many products and tools reach end users without rigorous field testing or any empirical data. Students with disabilities, their teachers, family members, and other stakeholders deserve better. In this TAM Showcase Session, the Co-Editor of Journal of Special Education Technology highlights exemplary programs of research to argue for increased rigor and a higher standard when testing products and tools intended for use with students with disabilities.

Research-based instructional and assistive technology tools that can be used directly by students, their teachers, or in professional development/teacher preparation efforts will be discussed.

INSTRUCTIONAL NEEDS OF GIFTED AND TALENTED STUDENTS

TOPIC: Gifted and Talented
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR(S): Lynette Breedlove, Western Kentucky University, Bowling Green

1. What About Engineering: An Integrated STEM Approach to Addressing Multiple Content Standards
Teachers can seamlessly integrate multiple subjects into their instruction while addressing multiple content standards. Join us and actively participate in an engineering focused, integrated lesson addressing content standards in science, mathematics, language arts, and social studies.
LEADER(S): Debbie Dailey, University of Central Arkansas, Conway
PRESENTER(S): Michelle Buchanan, University of Central Arkansas, Conway

Learn about the characteristics of well-thought-out acceleration plans and consider important factors that inform acceleration decisions. Our goal is to assist educators in developing comprehensive, research-based, equitable acceleration plans that support academically talented students.
LEADER(S): Wendy Behrens, Minnesota Department of Education, St. Paul
PRESENTER(S): Christine Weber, University of North Florida, Jacksonville

3. Differentiation Through Assessment: The DAP Tool
DAP (Developing and Assessing Product) Tools ensure consistency and clarity when differentiating assessment using four components for all products: content, presentation, creativity, and reflection. You will learn about differentiating products and understand how DAP Tools provide levels for each product.

NEW WAYS TO BUILD EDUCATORS’ KNOWLEDGE AND SKILLS FOR INCLUSIVE EDUCATION

TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR(S): Debi Gartland, Towson University, MD

- Building General Education Teachers’ Capacity for Creating Inclusive Classrooms
  Studio-days are a professional development experience that combine features of lesson study and professional learning communities. We will describe the utility of studio-days as a platform for developing the practice of designing inclusive lessons to meet the diverse learning needs of students with disabilities.

  LEADER(S): Marie Fisher, University of Washington, Seattle

- Learn It Your Way: Personalized Professional Learning for Co-Teaching
  Finding time for PD related to inclusive, collaborative teaching is a challenge in schools focused on improving instruction. Learn about a personalized e-course targeting specific competencies related to co-teaching, and lessons learned in teacher responsiveness, instructional efficacy, and changes in practice.

Teacher2Teacher: The Googleverse and the Benefits for Students With Intellectual Disabilities

TOPIC: Technology and Media
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Learn strategies on how to use Chromebooks for the instruction of students with ID. Participants will walk away with increased knowledge in system levels of support that should be in place, various web-based resources, accessibility features of Google and beyond, and lesson ideas for using Google-based products.

LEADER(S): David Dore, Homewood-Flossmoor High School, IL

11:00 AM–12:00 PM  SESSION: 113  ROOM: BALLROOM B

Teacher2Teacher: Service Learning Projects: To Do or Not To Do

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

We provide an overview of service learning projects for all students with and without disabilities. Although there are benefits and barriers to these projects, opportunities are provided for students with diverse abilities and needs to interact and work together.

LEADER(S): Denise Griffin, Moore Public Schools, OK

11:00 AM–12:00 PM  SESSION: 114 • ROOM: BALLROOM D

DADD SHOWCASE (PART 2): Life Skills Instruction for Students With Intellectual Disability: Best Practices and Future Directions

TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder / Intellectual Disabilities
FORMAT: Panel

Life skills instruction is essential in preparation for full, meaningful, and connected adult lives of individuals with intellectual disability. This session will provide an overview of best practices in identifying and teaching life skills as well as a discussion of future directions in life skills instruction.

EVALUATING CANDIDATES IN PRESERVICE TEACHER PREPARATION: PERSPECTIVES ACROSS PROGRAMS

TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR(S): Amber Benedict, University of Florida, Gainesville

• A Framework for Systematically Measuring Preservice Special Education Teachers’ Growth

We discuss the findings from research examining the growth of preservice special education teachers of students with severe disabilities over the course of their preparation. One university shares their framework, tools, and processes for examining the impact of the program on preservice teacher candidates’ self-efficacy, knowledge, and practices.

LEADER(S): Carly Roberts, University of Washington, Seattle
PRESENTER(S): Selma Powell, University of Washington, Seattle

• Instructional Practices for Teachers in an Inclusive Simulated Classroom: A Delphi Study Results

This Delphi Study aimed to seek what practices teachers should be using in a simulated inclusive environment as determined by experts in the field. The methods and results of the Delphi Study will be presented. Additionally, future implications for teacher education and practitioners will be discussed.

LEADER(S): Taylor Bousfield, University of Central Florida, Orlando

• Integrating Video Analysis Into Teacher Preparation to Promote Critical Analysis of Instruction

We discuss the results of a study that examined how preservice educators learned to analyze instruction through video analysis. Preservice teachers learned the TEACH cognitive strategy to analyze effective instruction, provide feedback to peers, and to integrate EBPs into their teaching.

SOCIAL NETWORKS AND SOCIAL EMOTIONAL LEARNING OF STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR(S): Theresa Farmer, Alabama State Department of Education, Birmingham

- Social Networks of Students With Disabilities in General Education

We discuss the results of a study to compare elementary and middle school students’ social networks, including networks of friendship, recess interactions, academic, and emotional support. Learn how you can transform your pedagogical practice to create more socially responsive and inclusive classrooms.

LEADER(S): Christoforos Mamas, University of California, San Diego

- The Social Emotional Learning Foundations Curriculum: Preliminary Results From a Randomized Control Trial

Children’s social-emotional growth is connected to academic learning, but high stakes testing often results in focus on academics. We provide outcomes of SELF, a K-1 curriculum that merges social-emotional learning and reading comprehension instruction to promote behavioral and academic self-regulation.

FORMAT: Poster Session

Children's storybooks are a common component of early childhood instruction. In this study, early childhood teachers engaged in PD using evidence-based strategies to teach early numeracy concepts through storybooks. Findings hold implications for students with, at risk for, and without disabilities.

A Statewide Program to Train Teachers and Administrators in the Supervision of Paraeducators

TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Poster Session

We will address why teacher education programs must add competencies for teachers and administrators to develop knowledge and skills needed to supervise paraeducators and direct their work effectively. Learn the content that should be emphasized and strategies for including it in the teacher education curriculum.

LEADER(S): Kent Gerlach, Pacific Lutheran University, Tacoma, WA

How Do Beginning Teachers Select and Modify Mathematics Textbook Activities?

SECONDARY TOPIC: STEM
FORMAT: Poster Session

Learn about the findings of a study focused on the ways in which beginning teachers select and modify mathematics textbook activities for students with disabilities. We describe common beliefs held about textbooks, areas of success and challenges, and ways to support beginning special education teachers.

LEADER(S): Nicole Hansen, Fairleigh Dickinson University, Teaneck, NJ

A Review of Social Skill Interventions for Adolescents With Autism

SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

People with ASD characteristically have impairments in social interactions and communication though there is minimal research available for adolescents with ASD and complex communication needs. This review investigates social interaction interventions for adolescents with autism in inclusive settings.

LEADER(S): Salena Babb, Pennsylvania State University, State College

Exploration of Teacher Knowledge in Literacy Instruction for Students With Autism Spectrum Disorders

SECONDARY TOPIC: Measuring Special Education Teacher Effectiveness
FORMAT: Poster Session

Although research exists in the area of teacher knowledge in reading instruction, there are no existing studies investigating teacher knowledge on literacy instruction for students with ASD. Preliminary results on current teachers’ knowledge on literacy instruction for students with ASD will be shared.

Guiding Preservice Teachers Through Common Classroom Management Misconceptions

TOPIC: Starting the Teaching Career
SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Poster Session

Join us and examine the common misconceptions of classroom management and understand what preservice teachers think is most important in regards to classroom management. We will also share strategies to help bridge any gaps with classroom management misconceptions.

LEADER(S): Brittany Layman, Indiana University–Purdue University Columbus
PRESENTER(S): Allisha Beerwart, Indiana University–Purdue University Columbus

Residential Options and Rationale in Postsecondary Education for Students With Intellectual Disabilities

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

This session will discuss the findings from an ongoing longitudinal study on residential outcomes and independent living skills for postsecondary students with ID. The SIB-R was used to facilitate progress monitoring for individual, residential, commuter, gender, and disability comparisons.

Are First-Year College Students Likely to Self-Report for Special Services?

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

Unlike public school where students are identified for services by parents or teachers, at the higher education level, students must self-report for special services. Through data collected from the survey, attendees will learn why students self-report or fail to do so, and the reasons for this.

Reading/Literacy Interventions for Students With ASD: A Synthesis of Current Research

SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

Educators require EBPs to meet the needs of students with disabilities in reading and literacy. We will discuss a research synthesis that examined reading/literacy interventions for students with ASD and will describe the research methodology, participant characteristics, interventions, and intervention outcomes.

DBI 101: Using Data to Meet Complex Student Needs When Evidence-Based Interventions Don’t Work

TOPIC: Response to Intervention (RtI): Multi-Tier System of Supports
SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Poster Session

Are you struggling to define Tier 3 or support students who don’t respond to evidence-based interventions? Are you looking for tips to use data to meet the needs of your most hard-to-teach students? Learn a process for reviewing data to individualize and intensify intervention to support implementation.

FAMILY PARTNERSHIP DURING POST-SECONDARY TRANSITION

TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR(S): Grace Francis, George Mason University, Fairfax, VA

● Harnessing Parent Power to Grow Self-Determination of Transitioning Youth With Disabilities

Youth who have learned to manage their own disabilities, their own most effective learning approaches, and their own accommodations are more likely to succeed in secondary education and postsecondary environments. Join us to brainstorm practical strategies to empower families to promote youth self-determination.

LEADER(S): Amy Pleet-Odle, Inclusion Focused Coaching, Elkton, MD
PRESENTER(S): Sean Roy, TransCen, Inc., Bloomington, MN

● Future Planning: Sibling Decision-Making About Independent Living, Employment, and Daily Life

Siblings play key roles, such as caregiver and advocate, in the lives of students with IDD. This study explored the decision-making between sibling pairs concerning employment, independent living, and daily choices. Implications for future planning and collaboration with siblings will be presented.

LEADER(S): Sarah Hall, Ashland University, Columbus Center, OH
PRESENTER(S): Meghan Burke, University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign; Zachary Rossetti, Boston University, MA; Chung eun Lee, University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign

● Strategies to Engage Families in the Career Readiness Process

Family members play a vital, yet underappreciated role in helping young people with disabilities explore careers, build social skills, and find success in employment. We will focus on promising strategies that can be used to engage families of youth with disabilities in the career readiness process.

LEADER(S): Sean Roy, TransCen, Inc., Bloomington, MN
PRESENTER(S): Amy Pleet-Odle, Inclusion Focused Coaching, Elkton, MD
● Please Help Me! A Child’s Cry for Advocacy

Parents with children with special needs don’t always know how to navigate the system and advocate for their children. We discuss how parents can foster personal responsibility, academic readiness, and skills in preparation for self-sufficiency beyond high school, and access resources within the school system.

Elementary Special Education Teachers’ Practices and Perceptions of Curriculum-Based Measurement

TOPIC: Assessment
SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

We discuss the results of a study that examined special education teachers’ practices and perceptions of CBM. They are using CBM to fulfill the requirements of the IEP however, many are not using it as originally intended. Time, lack of confidence and knowledge in using some of the components are still barriers.

SUPPORTING STUDENTS WHO ARE DEAF/HH

TOPIC: Communicative Disabilities and Deafness

FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

MODERATOR(S): Anna Paulson, Commission of Deaf, DeafBlind and Hard of Hearing Minnesotans (MNCDHH), St. Paul

- Children Who Are Oral Deaf/Hard-of-Hearing: Patterns in Story Problem Solving

  We will describe findings of a pilot study examining (for the first time) story problem solving for children who are deaf/hard of hearing who use spoken language. We discuss story problem types, strategies, and difficulties with this population, informing the fields of deafness and STEM.

  LEADER(S): Taylor Hallenbeck, University of North Carolina, Greensboro

- Enhancing the Social-Emotional Development of Students Who Are Deaf or Hard of Hearing

  Children and youth who are deaf or hard of hearing have long been considered a population at risk for developing social-emotional skills. We explain the importance of social competence and discuss actions that educators and parents can undertake to promote social-emotional competence.

  LEADER(S): John Luckner, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley

- Minding the Gap: Incidental Learning Needs and the Student Who Is Deaf/Hard of Hearing

  Teaching students who are D/HH presents its own unique challenge. Because so much learning is incidentally gained, how do we help bridge that gap? We focus on four main ideas: Inference instruction, Teaching closed caption skills, Thinking about how we teach figurative language, and Scaling the weight of words.

Top Tips for Developing and Implementing Work-Based Learning Opportunities for High School Students With ASD

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition

SECONDARY TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder / Intellectual Disabilities

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Postsecondary outcomes for students on the autism spectrum are bleak. Participating in work-based learning experiences enhance outcomes, but many students don’t have access to them. Learn strategies to embed these opportunities within the school/community setting from staff in 30 high schools across the country.

STRATEGIES FOR IMPLEMENTING INDIVIDUALIZED PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

TOPIC: Measuring Special Education Teacher Effectiveness
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR(S): Wendy Rodgers, University of Nevada, Las Vegas

● Building Teacher Capacity of EBPs for Students With Moderate ID: Individualized Teacher-Directed Professional Development

Due to complex student support needs, implementation of EBPs that are individualized, yet implemented with fidelity can be difficult. We discuss the results of our study that used a teacher-directed professional learning model to build teacher implementation of EBPs.

LEADER(S): Bree Jimenez, University of Sydney/Mater Dei School, Australia

● Personalized Professional Development: Using a Low Inference Observation Tool to Categorize and Describe Instruction

Administrators observing special education instruction face significant problems when using traditional classroom observation tools. This study used the Classroom Teaching Scan, a computer-based classroom observation tool, to describe profiles of instruction that could be used to create personalized PD.

STRAND C, Session 2: High-Probability Request Sequence

SECONDARY TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Learn a step-by-step approach for implementing the use of high-probability request sequence (HPRS) in 3-tiered models of prevention. HPRS is a low-intensity, teacher-delivered strategy to increase the likelihood of students’ responding to requested activities. Resources are provided using HPRS and the supporting research.

Teaching Students With EBD to Recruit Positive Teacher Attention

TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Teacher praise has been shown to increase student engagement and decrease disruptions. Results from a study that examined the effectiveness of teaching students with EBD to recruit teacher praise will be presented along with a discussion of how this intervention can be used by practicing teachers.

LEADER(S): Sean Wachsmuth, Minnesota State University, Mankato

Racial Disparities in Disability Identification: Implications for Special Education Policy, Research, and Practice

TOPIC: Public Policy
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session will focus on the ‘state of the science’ in regards to empirical findings of minority disproportionate representation in special education. We detail implications for these findings for special education policy, research, and practice.

LEADER(S): Paul Morgan, Pennsylvania State University, University Park

Teacher2Teacher: Working With Education Assistants/Paraprofessionals

TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

We present evidenced-based strategies for classroom teachers to use to successfully build and maintain positive and productive working relationships with education assistants/paraprofessionals. Questions and answers are invited to this informative and interactive session.

LEADER(S): Nancy Norman, University of the Fraser Valley & Kwantlen Polytechnic University, Canada

Program Chair Featured: Highlights From the National Center for Special Education Research: Recent Findings and New Research on Teachers and MTSS

TOPIC: Research
SECONDARY TOPIC: Public Policy
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The National Center for Special Education Research (NCSER) funds research on infants, toddlers, children, and youth with and at risk for disabilities to advance the understanding of and practices for teaching, learning, and organizing education systems. In 2018, NCSER plans to fund a network of researchers focused on integrated academic and behavioral Multi-tiered Systems of Support. These new areas of research funding will be discussed in addition to highlights from prior projects and available resources from the Institute of Education Sciences.

☆ Exhibitor Showcase: Reading for Meaning with Read Naturally Live

FORMAT: Exhibitor Showcase Session

Learn how to develop fluency, support vocabulary, and promote comprehension by combining three powerful, research-based strategies: teacher modeling, repeated reading, and progress monitoring. Learn how to meet standards and accelerate the achievement of developing and struggling readers. These effective strategies are demonstrated using Read Naturally’s web-based software program, Read Live.

LEADER(S): Barb Denbow, Read Naturally, Inc., St. Paul, MN

2:15 PM–3:15 PM  ROOM: LEARNING LAB 2, WEST HALL, 3RD FL

☆ Exhibitor Showcase: Use Social & Emotional Learning To Improve Outcomes

FORMAT: Exhibitor Showcase Session

In this session, you will learn how to incorporate SEL to improve academics and graduation rates, focus on skills to improve behavior and best practices using evidence-based tools to assess and teach these critical skills.

LEADER(S): Art Janowiak III, The Conover Company, Appleton, WI

2:15 PM–3:15 PM  ROOM: LEARNING LAB 3, WEST HALL, 3RD FL

☆ Exhibitor Showcase: Quality Behavior Plans in an Hour

FORMAT: Exhibitor Showcase Session

This session will take participants through the process of building a quality behavior plan using insights to behavior. Topics covered will be defining a behavior, online Behavior Assessment, selecting research-based strategies (proactive, reactive, and replacement behaviors), and finally data collection processes to prove effectiveness. Participants will leave with an understanding of how to build a quality behavior plan in an hour.

☆ Exhibitor Showcase: Accommodations for Students with ADHD

FORMAT: Exhibitor Showcase Session

We will demo an on-demand training program for educators that helps you recognize & understand ADHD, and develop classroom accommodations to help students succeed.

LEADER(S): Trish White, CHADD (Children & Adults with Attention Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder), Lanham, MD

2:15 PM–3:00 PM  SESSION: 220  ROOM: POSTER 1, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

Facilitating Math-Talk in Inclusive Elementary Mathematics Classrooms

TOPIC: STEM
SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Poster Session

Learn about ‘math-talk’ strategies for enhancing mathematics learning of all students in inclusive classrooms. These strategies promote meaningful classroom discussions through questioning, explaining mathematical thinking, identifying sources of mathematical ideas, and taking responsibility for learning.

LEADER(S): Cynthia Griffin, University of Florida, Gainesville
PRESENTER(S): Kristen Apraiz, University of Florida, Gainesville

2:15 PM–3:00 PM  SESSION: 221  ROOM: POSTER 10, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

Promoting Joint Attention in Children With Visual Impairment Using Strategies From JASPER

TOPIC: Visual Impairments
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

We discuss the results of a project that used strategies from JASPER, a research-based intervention, to address the development of joint attention in students with VI and additional disabilities. The strategies were modified to meet the sensory needs of the students.

LEADER(S): M. Chris Ross, The Ohio State University, Columbus
Student and Teacher Perceptions of the Student “Draft IEP” Tool

TOPIC: Technology and Media
SECONDARY TOPIC: Assessment
FORMAT: Poster Session
Self-determination directly relates to successful adult outcomes. Practitioners value self-determination, but report limited knowledge and lack of time in the school day to target such skills. Learn about a web-based tool to promote self-determination, specifically in the IEP process.

Algebra Intervention for Students With Disabilities and English Language Learners

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Poster Session
Learn about a pilot algebra intervention for 9th-grade students with disabilities and ELLs. We used the CRA sequence to teach students to solve polynomial expressions using addition, subtraction, and multiplication. The pilot intervention resulted in improved student performance.

LEADER(S): Alexcia Moore, Auburn University, AL

Teaching Elementary Students With Mathematics Learning Disabilities to Solve Multiplication and Division Word Problems

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session
We describe findings of a single-case design study that assessed the effectiveness of SBI on the multiplication and division problem-solving performance of 3 fifth-grade students with mathematics learning disabilities (MLD). Implications for educational practice will be discussed.

LEADER(S): Ahmed Alghamdi, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis
PRESENTER(S): Asha Jitendra, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis; Amy Lein, Bellarmine University, Louisville, KY

A Meta-Analytic Review of Targeted School-Based Mental Health Interventions for Internalizing Disorders

SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session
This study evaluated the effectiveness of targeted school-based mental health interventions on youth with internalizing disorders. We evaluated the effect sizes for these interventions in 18 studies and will discuss results for main effects of the interventions.

LEADER(S): Skip Kumm, University of Illinois, Chicago
PRESENTER(S): Samantha Gesel, Vanderbilt University, Nashville, TN; Daniel Maggin, University of Illinois, Chicago; Elizabeth Talbott, University of Illinois, Chicago

A Review of Behavioral Interventions Published in Prominent Special Education Practitioner Journals

TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Poster Session
We share the results of a synthesis of behavioral interventions published in prominent special education practitioner journals. Of 3,245 articles reviewed, 317 included preventative, immediate, and consequential behavioral interventions. Implications for practice and future research directions are reported.

Seven Common Misconceptions About Classroom Management: Reflections About Assumptions in Classrooms Today

TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Presentation

Classroom management is an important skill for any preservice teacher to have; therefore, it is equally important to examine the common misconceptions of classroom management and understand ways teachers can conquer these misconceptions. The evidence from the research we conducted can help teachers better understand the key components for a successful classroom and help eliminate or reduce major classroom behaviors and issues.

The Effects of Collaborative Assignments and Projects on the Conceptual Understanding of Special Education for Undergraduate Teacher Candidates

FORMAT: Poster Session

According to the Association of American Colleges and Universities, high-impact practices have been proven beneficial for college students from diverse backgrounds. More specifically, collaborative learning allows college students to work and solve problems in the company of others and sharpen their own understanding through listening to the insights of others, particularly those with different backgrounds and life experiences. This presentation will focus on the key high-impact features of collaborative learning and the subsequent effects on undergraduate teacher candidates' conceptual knowledge of special education (effective lesson planning for students with disabilities).

STRATEGIES FOR SUCCESSFUL FAMILY PARTNERSHIP

TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR(S): Tracy Gershwin Mueller, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley

- Unlock the Door to Success: The Key to Evidence-Based IEP Meeting Practices

  The Supreme Court increased accountability for educators to design an IEP that provides meaningful educational benefit to students with disabilities. Learn an evidence-based process for facilitating IEP meeting practices to prevent parent-school conflict, increase IEP team collaboration, and generate a meaningful IEP.

  LEADER(S): Tracy Gershwin Mueller, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley
  PRESENTER(S): Jennifer Wagner Woods, Southern Wesleyan University, Central, SC

- The Double-Sided Mirror: Strategies for Effective Parent-Teacher Collaboration From Those Who Have Lived and Experienced the Dual Role in Special Education

  Based on their research, 2 special educators, who are also parenting young adults with disabilities, discuss findings and how those results can facilitate collaboration between parents and teachers. Themes that emerged provide suggestions for building positive parent-school relationships that lead to successful student outcomes.

  LEADER(S): Keri Haley, University of West Florida, Pensacola
  PRESENTER(S): Katherine Koch, St. Mary's College of Maryland, St. Mary's City

- A Whole New World: Using the Principles of ABA to Enhance Partnerships and Resolve Conflict Between Parents, Educators, and Advocates

  This session debunks the myth that ABA is restricted to students with disabilities only. We present strategies and procedures to enhance partnerships, including working through conflict with parents, educators, and advocates. Tools and techniques will be presented for practical implementation.

  LEADER(S): Jennifer Lieber, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley
  PRESENTER(S): Tracy Gershwin Mueller, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley; Jason Robinson, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley

- Spotlight on the Family: Engaging in the Special Education Process

  How are current policies and guidelines impacting family involvement? We will explore the importance of bridging the gap between family involvement in the IFSP and IEP process. Learn strategies for helping families become advocates for their child and active participants in the special education process.

INTEGRATING TECHNOLOGY TO SUPPORT WRITING INSTRUCTION FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

TOPIC: Technology and Media
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

● Innovative Technology-Based Graphic Organizers for Struggling Writers: Design Research Process

We will share the materials and findings from a series of research studies that guided the iterative development of technology-based graphic organizers with embedded technology supports and self-regulated learning strategies. Ways to support the effective and efficient technology integration will be discussed.

LEADER(S): Anya Evmenova, George Mason University, Fairfax, VA
PRESENTER(S): Kelley Regan, George Mason University, Fairfax, VA; Shalu Rana, George Mason University, Fairfax, VA; Rachel Hammer, George Mason University, Fairfax, VA; Soo Ahn, Iowa State University, Ames; Ashley Stride, George Mason University, Fairfax, VA

● Technology to Support Writing Instruction for Students With Disabilities

The research base on ways technology can support the delivery of evidence-based instruction in writing for students with disabilities and enhance student outcomes will be discussed, including practical applications of web-based enhancements, software and applications, and cross platform supports.

LEADER(S): Mary Theresa Kiely, Queens College, City University of New York

Strand E, Session 2: Engaging With Families: Resources and Effective Practices

TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
SECONDARY TOPIC: Public Policy
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Educators play an important role in shaping how families engage with schools in educating their children. We discuss the foundations for developing relationships with families that strengthen families’ engagement in their children’s education, and resources developed by projects funded by OSEP for educators to use when working with families.

PRESENTER(S): Rich LaBelle, Florida Network on Disabilities, Dunedin; Melanie Reese, Center on Appropriate Dispute Resolution in Special Education (CADRE), Eugene, OR; Debi Tucker, Parent to Parent of Georgia, Atlanta; Mark Weist, University of South Carolina, Columbia

Exhibitor Showcase: Developing a Districtwide Autism Program: A Training Model for Serving Students with ASD

FORMAT: Exhibitor Showcase Session

In this session, the presenters will provide a quick overview of the essential elements needed to provide effective and sustainable evidence-based programs and strategies for students with ASD across the age range. Learn how several state and local agencies developed a model to serve students and support staff.

LEADER(S): Cami Algaier, STAR Autism Support, Portland, OR

STRAND F, Session 2: Progress and Priorities for Research to Improve Outcomes for Students With EBD

SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session provides an overview of research on children and youth with EBD occurring over the last 30 years. We describe the progress of the field and identify priorities for the next generation of researchers in the field of EBD.

11:00 AM–12:00 PM  ROOM: LEARNING LAB 1, WEST HALL, 3RD FL
☆ Exhibitor Showcase: Reluctant Learner + Math Challenged = Camelot Learning Math Intervention

FORMAT: Exhibitor Showcase Session

Though traditional education is based on linguistic and logical learning styles, many students thrive in an environment that cultivates non-traditional intelligences. We will explore math techniques that teach reluctant learners through kinesthetic, spatial and social learning styles, by reviewing theory, and applying theory to lessons and games.

LEADER(S): Vanessa Diggs, Camelot Learning Math Intervention, Towson, MD

11:00 AM–11:45 AM  SESSION: 379  ROOM: POSTER 1, EAST HALL, 3RD FL
Enhancing Collaboration With Families of Children With Disabilities: Special Educators’ Perspectives and Strategies

TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Poster Session

We present findings from a study that examined perspectives of special educators on their experiences collaborating with families of children with disabilities. We offer insight into how collaborative practice is operationalized in K-12 settings, identify structural barriers, and provide implications for practice.

LEADER(S): Colby Kervick, University of Vermont, Burlington

11:00 AM–11:45 AM  SESSION: 380  ROOM: POSTER 10, EAST HALL, 3RD FL
Effects of SRSD Persuasive Writing on Writing and Off-Task Behaviors of African American Students With EBD

TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
SECONDARY TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Poster Session

We explore the SRSD method as a foundation for remediation of academic and social skill deficits for learners with EBD. Learn the results of a study that examined the effects of a combination of the SRSD method and self-monitoring strategy interventions on writing skills and off-task behavior.

LEADER(S): Robai Werunga, University of North Carolina, Charlotte

PRESENTER(S): Ya-yu Lo, University of North Carolina at Charlotte

ADOLESCENT WRITING: PREPARING FOR COLLEGE

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR(S): Amber Ray, Arizona State University, Tempe

- The Not So Simple Truth About Adolescent Writing
Your students are ‘write’; successfully coordinating the processes of writing is difficult! We present findings from a study that explored the relations of transcription, text generation, self-regulation, and working memory within the Simple View of Writing model. Learn about the model and its application at 9th grade.

LEADER(S): Apryl Poch, Duquesne University, Pittsburgh, PA

- Argumentative Writing and Secondary Students With Disabilities: Creating Real-World Habits and Successes
We introduce routine argument writing in the special education classroom, as supported by the National Writing Project’s College-Ready Writers Program as a method of teaching high school students. Engage in short writing tasks and learn practitioner-friendly ways to incorporate writing into instruction.

LEADER(S): Stacy Crawford, University of Louisville/Bullitt County Public Schools, KY
PRESENTER(S): Lauren Evanovich, University of South Florida, Tampa

- Write to College: Self-Regulated Strategy Development Intervention for College Entrance Essay Exam
We share results of a writing intervention study using SRSD for improving students with high-incidence disabilities and struggling writers’ performance on the ACT. SRSD instruction enhanced students’ planning, ACT scores, inclusion of argumentative elements in compositions, and the use of transition words.

POLICIES TO SUPPORT GIFTED AND TALENTED STUDENTS

FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR(S): Lynette Breedlove, Western Kentucky University, Bowling Green

● Gifted Educational Policy: Interpretation and Practice

With just over 30 states mandating gifted and talented identification and/or services, educational policy supports these mandates which filters down to LEA authorities. We share our project that illustrates district, school building, and classroom level implementation.

LEADER(S): Jennifer Jolly, The University of New South Wales, Sydney, Australia

● In Search of a Better Light: Administrators’ Concepts to Illuminate Needs of Twice-Exceptional Learners

We will focus on a theoretical and conceptual policy framework for administrators who desire to enhance their services for twice-exceptional learners. Learn to ideally operationalize a new twice-exceptional theoretical and conceptual definition and implementation concept for 2e learners.

LEADER(S): Ken Dickson, Educational Support and Consulting Network, Upper Marlboro, MD

● Policies to Remove Barriers for Gifted Students

School, district, or state policies can open opportunities for gifted students to learn at appropriately challenging levels or they can present barriers for doing so. We will exam policies and highlight key points for advocates to look for as they develop new policy or examine policy that is currently in place.

USING iBOOKS AND iPADS TO INCREASE STUDENT ENGAGEMENT AND ACADEMIC ACHIEVEMENT

TOPIC: Technology and Media
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

- An Investigation on iPads Used as Response Cards in the Classroom
  Using iPads during classroom instruction is increasing and teachers are required to develop effective methods for implementation of the technology. We provide empirical evidence that when iPads are implemented appropriately they have the potential to increase student engagement and academic growth for both high achieving and at-risk students.
  LEADER(S): Ruby Owiny, Trinity International University, Deerfield, IL

- Using iBooks as a Computer-Based Video Intervention to Teach Literacy Skills
  We will examine the use of a computer-based intervention, with embedded observational learning opportunities, to teach literacy skills to a student with ID. Results demonstrated an increase in participant skills and maintenance of those skills over time. Implications for research and practice will be discussed.
  LEADER(S): Christopher Rivera, East Carolina University, Greenville, NC

Technical Adequacy of CBM-W With Young English Language Learners

TOPIC: Assessment
SECONDARY TOPIC: Response to Intervention (RtI): Multi-Tier System of Supports
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A
We will share the results from a study exploring the reliability and validity of two CBM-Ws (word dictation and picture word) for ELLs in K-3rd grades. Suggestions for screening, progress monitoring, and practice will be provided, as well as initial seasonal benchmarks and weekly rates of growth.
LEADER(S): Alex Smith, University of Missouri, Columbia

Addressing Foundational Reading Skills Using a Text-Centered Curriculum for Students With Disabilities

SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Demonstration
We will model how to effectively teach foundational reading skills to students with disabilities. Using a curriculum which includes specially designed books, we will demonstrate how to provide students with disabilities instruction consistent with What Works Clearinghouse recommendations.

PRACTICAL APPLICATIONS IN TEACHING

FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR(S): L Penny Rosenblum, University of Arizona, Tucson

- Let’s Talk Science: An Overview of Lessons Learned in Teaching Science to Students With Visual Impairments
  Science education for students with VI has historically seen minimal research. Many manuals, suggestions, and activities found online suggest how to make science accessible to students with VI, but are not research based. Learn what has been done in this area over 50 years and what new research that has just begun.

  LEADER(S): Tiffany Wild, The Ohio State University, Columbus

- Supporting Students With Visual Impairments in Building Graphics Literacy Skills
  Building the graphics literacy skills of students with VI is important in achieving success in algebra and beyond. The results of three studies will be shared and implications for teachers of students with visual impairments will be highlighted. We will also provide recommendations for graphics instruction.

Re-Entry Programs for Juvenile Offenders With Disabilities Share Outcomes and Lessons Learned

TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A
Juvenile offenders with disabilities returning to their schools and communities need seamless services to ensure positive transition outcomes. We provide findings from 3 model demonstration projects that were chosen to implement unique models for facilitating the successful re-entry of these youth.

LEADER(S): Deanne Unruh, University of Oregon, Eugene

STRAND G, Session 1: Examining the State of Special Education Training Opportunities for Family-Professional Partnership Practices

TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
SECONDARY TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

We present a national survey study that addressed the extent to which preservice educators are prepared for building parent-professional partnerships. Discussion includes the type of preparation/training provided, and teacher educators’ satisfaction with the level/intensity of preparation regarding collaboration with families.

LEADER(S): Kathleen Kyzar, Texas Christian University, Fort Worth

Program Chair Featured: Making Educationally Appropriate and Legally Sound Placement Decisions

TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
SECONDARY TOPIC: Public Policy
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

A foundational principle of the IDEA is that students with disabilities receive a FAPE in the LRE. Unfortunately, placement issues can be difficult for IEP teams to navigate. We will offer guidance and suggestions to ensure that IEP teams make educationally appropriate and legally sound placement decisions.

Ad Hoc Advocacy: Advancing Special Education Teacher Development Research, Policy, and Practice

SECONDARY TOPIC: Public Policy
FORMAT: Panel

The new normal is one characterized by ad hoc work. Fast paced change, uncertainty, multiple demands, and competing priorities require the special education workforce to think differently about how to advance important initiatives. In this session, panelists share how they are working together to do just that.

Practical Implications of Mathematical Fluency for Practicing Elementary and Middle School Teachers

SECONDARY TOPIC: Assessment
FORMAT: Poster Session

Survey results from current and preservice teachers indicated instructional methods used for K-8 students with/without math difficulties. Trends in knowledge, uses of fluency data, and key program elements of evidence-based interventions are discussed. Implications for educators are presented.

LEADER(S): Lauren Cozad, Pennsylvania State University, State College
PRESENTER(S): Paul Riccomini, Pennsylvania State University, University Park

1:30 PM–2:15 PM  SESSION: 431  ROOM: POSTER 10, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

TOPIC: Technology and Media
SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Poster Session

We present the results of a synthesis of empirical-based studies investigating effects of CAI for teaching mathematics for PK-12 students with LD. Findings, implications for practice, and future research are discussed.

Mult-Tiered Approach for Providing Preschool Services to Children With ASD in the Public Schools

TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder / Intellectual Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Poster Session

We provide an overview of the model used in two suburban public schools that have provided preschool to students with ASD for over 20 years. We will discuss the evolution of the program model from full self-contained to inclusion and the supports provided to all stakeholders to support learning in the LRE.

A Meta-Analysis Examining the Effectiveness of Interventions Used to Increase Student Contributions During IEP Meetings

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Poster Session

We examined the effectiveness of interventions used to increase the quantity of verbal contributions made by students with disabilities during IEP meetings. We discuss the results which indicate that students who participated in interventions made significantly more verbal contributions during the meetings.

Implementation of Culturally Responsive RtI to Address Disproportionality

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
SECONDARY TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
FORMAT: Poster Session

Minority students are disproportionately identified for special education and experience higher rates of exclusionary discipline. Practitioners have an obligation to ensure equity for all students. Culturally Responsive Response-to-Intervention (RtI) provides an opportunity to identify and implement culturally relevant practices to achieve equity in classrooms and meaningful outcomes for students.

Classroom Management Efficacy and Role Stressors: Pathways to Burnout for Special Educators

TOPIC: Research
SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Poster Session

Three factors that may contribute to burnout in special education teachers are classroom management efficacy and role conflict, and role ambiguity. This study explored these topics in depth in order to discover strategies that may promote resilience in special education teachers. We discuss the results.

Program Chair Featured: Solution Oriented Roundtables on Culturally Linguistically Diverse Students with Disabilities

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Roundtables
MODERATOR(S): Claudia Rinaldi, Lasell College, Newton, MA

Experts in bilingual special education will address general education, special education instruction and intervention, English language development in special education, and much more. Learn from the experts and take back solution-oriented, evidenced-based practices to close the research-to-practice divide. Come, join the expert that best fits your greatest need and engage in discussion about the relevant topic to you—all in one room.

List of Presentations:

1. Integrated MTSS in Dual Language Schools (Sylvia Linan-Thompson, University of Oregon, Eugene)
2. Bilingual Assessment Strategies for Monolingual Speakers (Edward Schultz, Midwestern State University, Wichita Falls, TX)
3. Using Technology to Enhance the Learning of English Language Learners with Disabilities (Diana Morales, Florida Diagnostic & Learning Resources Systems-South; Jennifer Lesh, Lynn University, Boca Raton, FL)
4. Culturally Responsive Classroom: Practices that Positively Address the Needs of All Learners (Jacqueline Rodriguez, College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, VA)
5. Practical Solutions for Teaching English Language Learners with Disabilities: Peer-Assisted Learning Strategies (Gliset Colon, Buffalo State College, NY)
6. Preparing Latino Parents of the 1-in-5 for Parent-Teacher Conferences (Gabriela Bobadilla, Understood en Español, New York, NY)
7. Professional Learning Teams for English Learners with and without Disabilities (Silvana Watson, Old Dominion University, Norfolk, VA)
8. Verano en México: A study abroad program designed to enhance cross-cultural and culturally responsive competencies (Todd Fletcher, University of Arizona, Tucson)
9. A Call to Change: The J Curve In Bilingual Assessment and Evaluation (Maria de Lourdes B Serpa, Lesley University, Cambridge, MA)
10. Developing Culturally and Linguistically Responsive IEPs (John J. Hoover, University of Colorado, Boulder)
11. Lessons Learned from Supporting Districts who work with English Learners with Disabilities. (Sara V. Nino, Massachusetts Department of Elementary and Secondary Education, Malden, MA)

Accessing Artmaking With Adaptive Art Tools, Techniques, and Materials for Students With Disabilities

TOPIC: Arts in Special Education
SECONDARY TOPIC: Physical/Health/Multiple Disabilities
FORMAT: Demonstration

Artmaking is a challenge for students with disabilities when the tools, materials, or art techniques are inaccessible. Educators will be introduced to adaptive tools for grip challenges, alternative art materials for sensory concerns, as well as adapted art techniques for all students with disabilities.

● All the Colors of the Rainbow: Teaching Elementary Students About LGBT Families

Elementary educators receive little or no professional development about LGBT families. In this session, educators will learn about and receive resources for teaching elementary students in both special and general education settings about LGBT families.

LEADER(S): Susannah Boyle, Pennsylvania State University, State College

● Using a Reflective Framework to Include Students with Disabilities Who Also Identify as LGBTQ

In this session, teachers will be equipped with strategies that empower them to include LGBTQ issues in the curriculum, know how to intervene when anti-LGBTQ, antidisability language is used, and understand how to integrate LGBTQ families safely into schools.

LEADER(S): Jennifer E. Christensen, Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond
PRESENTER(S): Frank Dykes, University of Texas, Tyler; Kristine Larson, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, MD

Leading With Heart: Relationships and Behaviors of Effective Leaders

TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
SECONDARY TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Learn about effective leadership characteristics by exploring the knowledge and skills associated with the principles of Leading with Heart and evidence-based, effective leadership behaviors. It takes leading with head, heart, and hands to be an effective leader influencing the lives of the children and families we serve.

THE SELF-DETERMINED LEARNING MODEL OF INSTRUCTION EQUALS STUDENT SUCCESS

TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR(S): Anna Gibbs, Auburn University, AL

- Cultivating the Academic and Personal Success of Students With Autism in College Settings (CAPS)
  The mission of CAPS is to leverage existing college resources paired with mentoring supports to increase the academic and personal success of students with ASD. Learn how students participating in the project are meeting goals at a high percentage in academic, social, and independent living areas.
  LEADER(S): Evette Simmons-Reed, Ball State University, Muncie, IN

- Whole-Class Implementation of the Self-Determined Learning Model of Instruction in a High School Mathematics Class
  We will discuss findings from the use of the Self-Determined Learning Model of Instruction, to teach self-determination skills to high school students who struggled to engage with academic content, specifically mathematics. The study was one of the first investigations classwide in a general education classroom.
  LEADER(S): Sheida Raley, University of Kansas, Lawrence
  PRESENTER(S): Karrie Shogren, University of Kansas, Lawrence

Parent Implementation of Evidence-Based Practices at Home for Child With Complex Disabilities

TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder / Intellectual Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Parent implementation of evidence-based practices at home for a child with complex, multiple disabilities has context-specific challenges. We share the results of our study that engaged a parent in the development and execution of an intervention for increased independence and communication.

LEADER(S): Suzanne Kucharczyk, University of Arkansas, Fayetteville

EARLY INTERVENTION FOR DEAF/HH & FAMILIES

FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR(S): Debra Lively, Saginaw Valley State University, University Center, MI

- Obstacles to Opportunities: Using Research Findings to Inform Daily Practice

This session references the growing body of evidence connecting family engagement to enhanced student outcomes. Though focus is on families of children with hearing impairment, the actionable outcomes of the presenter’s research are applicable across multiple disciplines.

LEADER(S): Marguerite Vasconcellos, Bucks County Intermediate Unit 22, Doylestown, PA

- Using D/HH Standards and DEC Recommended Practices to Prepare Deaf Educators and SLPs to Serve Parents and Their Children With Hearing Loss in Early Intervention

We describe an intervention model designed to improve practitioners’ use of the DCDD’s Deaf/Hard of Hearing Standards and the DEC Recommended Practices while in a graduate training program for SLPs and Developmental Therapists/Educators. Implementation data and videotaped therapy sessions are shared.

Improving Mathematical Problem-Solving Skills Using SOLVE: A Strategy for Secondary Students

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Demonstration

Learn about the SOLVE strategy to address mathematics problem-solving skills for secondary students with LD. SOLVE combines explicit instruction with a general strategy that includes a mnemonic. You will apply the strategy to sample word problems and then create an example for students in your own classroom.

LEADER(S): Michelle Popham, Clemson University, SC

Program Chair Featured: Implementing Job-Embedded Professional Development to Meet the Instructional Needs of English Learners/English Learners With Disabilities

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Educators struggle with effectively serving ELs, with and without disabilities. Effective job-embedded PD (JEPD) is crucial in ensuring that ELs receive high-quality instruction from special and general education teachers. We will discuss ‘how to’s’ of JEPD provided to teachers in their OSEP-funded model demonstration projects.

Raising the Power of Curriculum-Based Measurements in a Preservice Math Classroom

TOPIQUE: Assessment
SECONDARY TOPIQUE: STEM
FORMAT: Poster Session

Together we examine one way teachers can develop and monitor their own learning goals while engaging in activities that support higher level content knowledge growth in math. Using CBMs to monitor and modify their own learning, teachers experience firsthand the utility and efficiency of the assessment tools.

MATHEMATICS INSTRUCTION FOR CULTURALLY AND LINGUISTICALLY DIVERSE LEARNERS

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity

FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

- Examining Cultural Diversity in Mathematics Instruction
  During this interactive session, participants will examine examples of how mathematics is not a universal language and identify strategies to support struggling learners. Participants will learn approaches for supporting struggling students and will receive instructional support materials.

  LEADER(S): Todd Sundeen, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley

- Mathematics Video Instruction for English Language Learners: Benefits to Children and Parents
  The effects of video recorded mathematics instruction with a low-achieving 3rd grader was examined as a way to increase parental homework involvement. Pre-post surveys by child and parent indicated a pronounced increase in parental homework involvement. Findings will be discussed.

  LEADER(S): Jayne Leh, Pennsylvania State University Berks Campus, Reading

4:00 PM–5:00 PM • SESSION: 521 • ROOM: 13

Reading Interventions Delivered Outside of School

TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships

FORMAT: Panel

We will present research on reading interventions delivered in out-of-school settings and learn the implications of study results for helping parents/families and summer interventionists better serve children with or at risk for reading difficulties and measure the adherence to instructional protocols.

LEADER(S): Deborah Reed, University of Iowa, Iowa Reading Research Center, Iowa City

PRESENTER(S): Jessica Folsom, University of Iowa, Iowa Reading Research Center, Iowa City; Laura Justice, The Ohio State University, Columbus; Jessica Logan, The Ohio State University, Columbus; Beth Phillips, Florida Center for Reading Research, Tallahassee
DIGITAL DECISIONS: INFORMED TECHNOLOGY USE TO MAXIMIZE STUDENT LEARNING

TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR(S): Dusty Columbia Embury, Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond

- Make eLearning an Equal Opportunity Experience
  Digital content makes learning more portable and interactive, but students who experience barriers to reading text often find digital materials as difficult to navigate as printed ones. Learn how to select and create curricular materials that work for the widest possible audience.
  LEADER(S): Christine Jones, Bookshare/Benetech, Palo Alto, CA
  PRESENTER(S): Lisa Wadors Verne, Benetech, Palo Alto, CA

- The Power of the Cursor: 21st-Century Technology Tools for Elementary Writing of Students With HID
  This session will focus on using technology, graphic organizers, and national technology standards in supporting students writing abilities for both classroom activities and standardized testing. We will compare paper-based instruction and technology-use readiness skills to improve students’ writing performance.
  LEADER(S): Kevin Good, University of Maine, Farmington
  PRESENTER(S): Shalu Rana, George Mason University, Fairfax, VA; Anya Evmenova, George Mason University, Fairfax, VA; Kelley Regan, George Mason University, Fairfax, VA; Soo Ahn, Iowa State University, Ames

4:00 PM–5:00 PM  SESSION: 523  ROOM: 15
Promoting Communication and Interaction for Students With AAC Needs Through Peer-Mediated Interventions

TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder / Intellectual Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Educators need effective strategies to support the communication, interaction, and membership of students with complex communication needs in inclusive settings. We discuss peer-mediated interventions and implications for practitioners and researchers committed to supporting students learning to use AAC.

LEADER(S): Elizabeth Biggs, University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign

4:00 PM–5:00 PM  SESSION: 524  ROOM: 16
Why Wait Until Adulthood: Providing Functional Skills Instruction in the School Setting to Elementary Students

TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder / Intellectual Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

We describe a single-case study concerning functional skills intervention for young children with moderate DD in a rural public school. Findings suggest that interventions featuring video-modeling, visual scheduling, and prompting were effective. A discussion of implications follows a description of findings.

LEADER(S): Seth King, Tennessee Tech University, Cookeville
PRESENTER(S): Martha Howard, Tennessee Tech University, Cookeville; Amy Callender, Tennessee Technological University, Cookeville
FRIDAY, FEB. 9

4:00 PM–5:00 PM • SESSION: 525 • ROOM: 17

Strategies to Enhance Communication in the Classroom

FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR(S): Caron Mellblom-Nishioka, California State University, Dominguez Hills

- Effective Directives: Strategies to Prevent Noncompliance and Conflict in the Classroom

We provide a review of evidence-based strategies designed to promote compliance to verbal directives in classroom settings. Participants will learn to select among several strategies to help students follow verbal directions and avoid negative or coercive interactions.

LEADER(S): Alexandra Hollo, West Virginia University, Morgantown

- Language and Behavior in the Classroom: Implications and Applications for Teachers

This session provides a review of literature detailing the role of language in students' academic, social, emotional, and behavioral development. You will learn strategies for supporting students with problem behavior and low-language skills, and ways to improve communication and decrease negative interactions.

LEADER(S): Jason Chow, Virginia Commonwealth University, Richmond
PRESENTER(S): Alexandra Hollo, West Virginia University, Morgantown

4:00 PM–5:00 PM • SESSION: 526 • ROOM: 18

Engaging ALL of Our Students, Including Nonreaders, Using Formative Assessment MDC Mathematics Lessons

SECONDARY TOPIC: Accountability Systems for Students with Disabilities
FORMAT: Demonstration

How can we guide our students who struggle in mathematics to problem solve and learn difficult content, while simultaneously challenging students who are gifted and talented? How can we engage ALL learners in collaborative productive struggle? Leave with materials and resources to immediately use in their classrooms.

LEADER(S): Debra Allen, Thomas More College, Crestview Hills, KY

4:00 PM–5:00 PM • SESSION: 527 • ROOM: 19

Free Educational Apps to Support Writing in the Elementary and Middle School Classroom

TOPIC: Technology and Media
SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Demonstration

The use of digital writing supports has been shown to be effective in increasing students' writing achievement. We will outline free educational apps that educators can utilize in their classrooms to support the writing process. Strategies to implement these apps will be outlined with an opportunity for questions. Please bring your own devices to this session as it is designed to offer a hands on opportunity to explore the apps. We will focus on apps for both Apple and Android devices.

LEADER(S): Virginia Morash-MacNeil, University of South Florida, Tampa
PRESENTER(S): Friggita Johnson, Clemson University, SC

Using Evidence to Improve Your Practice

FORMAT: Demonstration

Observation instruments have been created to evaluate teachers’ effectiveness, but few have been studied for their utility and precision in capturing effective special education instruction. Learn about a protocol that practitioners can use to analyze their instruction and be proactive in improving it.

LEADER(S): David Peyton, University of Florida, Gainesville
PRESENTER(S): Daisy Pua, University of Florida, Gainesville; Mary Brownell, CEEDAR Center, University of Florida, Gainesville; Nathan Jones, Boston University, MA

Tips for Success: The Teacher Candidate to Beginning Teacher Transformation

SECONDARY TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session will provide teacher candidates and beginning teachers with effective strategies to go from ‘just surviving’ during induction years to ‘thriving’ in their new positions! The information is based on 19 years of working with teacher candidates and first-, second-, and third-year special educators.

LEADER(S): Debi Gartland, Towson University, MD

4:00 PM–5:00 PM SESSION: 532 ROOM: 24
Strand H, Session 3: Tier 3 Intensive Intervention: Making Data Analysis Easy!

SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Are you feeling overwhelmed with Tier 3 data and team meetings? The NCII developed, in collaboration with educators, tools for facilitating efficient student problem-solving meetings. Learn how to efficiently set goals, assess students’ response to intervention, and use data to intensify interventions for struggling students.

LEADER(S): Tessie Bailey, American Institutes for Research, Austin, TX
PRESENTER(S): Sharon Vaughn, The Meadows Center for Preventing Educational Risk/UT, Austin; Amy Peterson, American Institutes for Research, Washington, DC

4:00 PM–5:00 PM SESSION: 533 ROOM: 25
Teacher2Teacher: iEngage: Supporting Students With EBD Through Embedding Technology Into Math Instruction

TOPIC: Technology and Media
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

We will provide an overview of classroom management strategies teachers can use to successfully and seamlessly integrate technology into math class. Teachers will leave with an understanding of how to structure their math classes to maximize instructional time and increase student engagement.

LEADER(S): Sara Heintzelman, Centennial School of Lehigh University, Bethlehem, PA

4:00 PM–5:00 PM SESSION: 534 ROOM: 11
Teacher2Teacher: Hug Your Co-Teacher! (or Not): 15 Tips and Tricks for Building Professional Partnerships

TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session will be given by teachers who are currently servicing students with IEPs in a K-12 virtual charter school program. They are experienced in both traditional and virtual environments, and are excited to share 15 specific tips and best practices they have learned for successful collaboration and co-teaching.

LEADER(S): Alison Gott, California Connections Academy, San Juan Capistrano
4:00 PM–5:00 PM  SESSION: 535  ROOM: BALLROOM C
Teacher2Teacher: Nearpod: Engage and Differentiate for Learners of All Ages and Abilities

TOPIC: Technology and Media
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Nearpod is a web-based tool that allows educators to create interactive slideshow presentations and is a necessary tool that every educator should be using to increase the engagement of their learners. Learn how Nearpod can be used in every classroom but is especially essential for special educators.

LEADER(S): Riley Barry, Hunnewell Elementary School, Wellesley, MA

How Are Universities Preparing Preservice Teachers to Work With Twice-Exceptional Students?

SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Poster Session

Twice-exceptional students are a diverse and often misidentified and underidentified group. This study explored how preservice teachers are prepared to identify and teach twice-exceptional students. Survey results about current course offerings and field experience requirements will be discussed.

LEADER(S): Janet Josephson, Millersville University, PA
PRESENTER(S): Charlton Wolfgang, Millersville University, PA

4:00 PM–4:45 PM  SESSION: 541  ROOM: POSTER 12, EAST HALL, 3RD FL
Perspectives of Dual Media Learners, Their Teachers, and Their Parents

TOPIC: Visual Impairments
SECONDARY TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
FORMAT: Poster Session

We share results of a study that gathered data from students transitioning from print to braille, their teachers, and their parents. Interview topics included instructional strategies, using braille in different settings, role motivation, and how the educational team supported the students.

LEADER(S): Tina Herzberg, University of South Carolina Upstate, Spartanburg

Ensuring 100% of Content Is Accessible to 100% of Students

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
SECONDARY TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Poster Session
This session is a visual representation of research-based strategies that benefit individuals who are both diagnosed with autism and are ELLs. Attendees will benefit from the focus on problem-based enhanced language learning strategies that promote access to content and academic language development.
LEADER(S): Wendy Farr, Arizona State University, Tempe

Superhero Play: Creating Opportunities for Children With Autism to Develop Positive Social Skills and Emotional Reciprocity as Super Hero Friends!

TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention
SECONDARY TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder / Intellectual Disabilities
FORMAT: Poster Session
Learn about using superhero play for children with autism and strategies for promoting social skills and emotional reciprocity. Using a case study, we demonstrate evidence that superhero play was a beneficial outcome using the child’s interests with superheroes, floor time, and social stories.
LEADER(S): Kathleen Harris, Seton Hill University, Greensburg, PA

Implementing a Dual Language Immersion Preschool Program With a Drama PD in Special Education Classrooms

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
SECONDARY TOPIC: Arts in Special Education
FORMAT: Poster Session
Lessons learned from the implementation of a dual language program combined with a drama PD in special education preschool classrooms are shared from the perspectives of a district superintendent, director of student services, educators, and researchers. Learn tips for success and how to include all stakeholders.

Schoolwide PBIS as a Framework for Reducing Disciplinary Exclusions: A Meta-Analysis

TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
SECONDARY TOPIC: Response to Intervention (RtI): Multi-Tier System of Supports
FORMAT: Poster Session

To date, there has not been a meta-analysis of group-based experimental research on the school-level effects of SWPBS implementation to reduce disciplinary exclusion, including ODR and suspensions. We share the results of our systematic review and meta-analysis to investigate that relationship.

LEADER(S): Nicholas Gage, University of Florida, Gainesville

The Efficacy of PBIS Interventions Across Demographic Variables (Race, Gender, Age): A Meta-Analysis

SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

Teachers use FBAs to address behaviors that interfere with the learning of students with disabilities and their peers. However, many demographic variables can interfere with the outcomes. We share the findings of a meta-analysis to find out if certain demographic variables influence the efficacy of the interventions.

Relation Between Implementation of Schoolwide Integrated Framework for Transformation (SWIFT) and Student Outcomes

SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

SWIFT’s equity-based inclusive education framework drives student improvement through a MTSS that includes all students. We provide an analyses of student data from 32 schools in 2 states indicate SWIFT implementation significantly predicts both academic and behavior outcomes.

Practical Applications for Teacher Preparation Mentoring and Feedback Using Bug-in-Ear Technology

SECONDARY TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

You will learn practical applications, strategies, and resources used in a newly developed teacher preparation program where students are mentored throughout their preparation and into teaching. We share our model for mentor/mentee training using innovative, research-based technology (Bug-in-Ear, virtual coaching).

KEY ISSUES IN RESEARCH

TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR(S): David Lee, Penn State University, University Park, PA

- Active Implementation Frameworks: Bridging the Research to Practice Gap

Often we find that our best efforts are not enough to make highly endorsed practices become accepted and sustained ways of work in schools; instead they fall into the research to practice gap. We share the roles, structures, and functions within Active Implementation Frameworks that are missing in many efforts at scaling up evidence-based practices in schools.

LEADER(S): Angela Preston, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

- The Importance of Studies With Null Findings

Although often relegated to researchers’ file drawers, studies with null findings are critical to the scientific enterprise. We explore the importance of null findings, review the literature on publication bias, examine studies with null findings in special education, and discuss approaches for increasing the publication of null findings.

LEADER(S): Bryan Cook, University of Hawaii at Manoa, Honolulu

PRESENTER(S): Bill Therrien; University of Virginia, Charlottesville

8:00 AM–9:00 AM • SESSION: 569 • ROOM: 9

Assessment for Program Planning for Young Children With Significant Multiple Disabilities

TOPIC: Physical/Health/Multiple Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Assessment
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Learn about a family-centered, strengths-based process to conduct initial and ongoing assessments for program planning for young children with significant multiple disabilities. Strategies for developing profiles of a child’s learning style and organizing the information to create intervention plans are shared.

LEADER(S): Kimberly Christensen, Bowling Green State University, OH

8:00 AM–9:00 AM • SESSION: 570 • ROOM: 10

‘Looking at the World Through Rose-Colored Glasses’: Positive Child-Centered Assessment Approaches for Students With Deafblindness or Multiple Disabilities

TOPIC: Visual Impairments
SECONDARY TOPIC: Physical/Health/Multiple Disabilities
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session examines the perspectives and assumptions educators often employ when viewing students with deafblindness or multiple disabilities, specifically looking at capacity-building vs. deficit-framing lenses. Learn child-centered and ecological approaches and resources, which can lead to more effective planning for instruction and supports.

LEADER(S): Julie Maier, California Deafblind Services/San Francisco State University

8:00 AM–9:00 AM • SESSION: 571 • ROOM: 11

Analysis of Classroom and State Testing Accommodations for Students With Behavioral Needs

SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The academic and behavioral IEP accommodations of 222 adolescents with EBD were examined. Data will be presented, identifying commonly used classroom and testing accommodations and differences in how accommodations are provided based on individual student characteristics. Implications for programming are discussed.

LEADER(S): Colleen Commissro, Lehigh University, Bethlehem, PA

PRESENTER(S): Allyce Hetrick, Lehigh University, Bethlehem, PA; Lee Kern, Lehigh University, Bethlehem, PA

A Framework for Advancing Critical Reflection and Equitable Practices in Special Education

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Developing school teams’ capacity to critically reflect on equity issues is an important step toward creating equitable practices. Learn about equity issues impacting special education and strategies for utilizing critical reflection to effectively lead teams in supporting all students.

LEADER(S): Anne Bowers, Woodridge School District 68, IL
PRESENTER(S): Romy DeCristofaro, Wilmette Public Schools District 39, IL

8:00 AM–9:00 AM  SESSION: 573  ROOM: 13

Exploring LRE: How IEP Team Members Think About LRE and Placement

TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

IEP Team functioning is perhaps the most important facet of the special education process. We share the results of a study investigating IEP team members’ understanding of IEP Team functioning. Participants will leave this session with more clarity about how to make IEP Team meetings more beneficial.

LEADER(S): Carl Lashley, University of North Carolina at Greensboro

SRSD for Writing and Revising Persuasive Responses With and Without Peer-Mediation

TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

A quasi-experimental design was used to evaluate SRSD LEAF peer-revision strategy in terms of quality and completeness of persuasive responses. Four classes of 4th grade students were assigned to the experimental (LEAF with peer-revision) or control groups (LEAF without peer-revision.) We discuss the findings.

LEADER(S): Anne Mong-Cramer, Penn State Altoona

8:00 AM–9:00 AM  SESSION: 575  ROOM: 15

“Pinning Down” Successful Written Expression in Elementary School Students With Disabilities

TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder / Intellectual Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Response to Intervention (RtI): Multi-Tier System of Supports
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Learn about a graphic organizer, WWF + Big Ideas that was developed to align to students’ needs. Students identified the audience (Who), topic (What), format (Form), and supportive details for body paragraphs (Big Ideas). We will focus on students’ improvements in written expression and usability.

LEADER(S): Sara Flanagan, University of Maine, Orono
PRESENTER(S): Deborah Rooks-Ellis, University of Maine, Orono

8:00 AM–9:00 AM  SESSION: 576  ROOM: 16

Explicit Instruction: Effective Lesson Design and Delivery for Increased Student Achievement

SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

We define explicit instruction, provide its historical context, discuss the principles upon which it is based, and present 13 key components of Explicit Instruction. This session will provide practical information for teachers and prepare them to incorporate Explicit Instruction into their teaching.

LEADER(S): Charles Hughes, Pennsylvania State University, University Park

8:00 AM–9:00 AM  SESSION: 577  ROOM: 17

2017 DLD John Wills Lloyd Outstanding Doctoral Research Award Presentation: How Much Is Enough? Short Observations to Improve Intervention Instruction

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Measuring Special Education Teacher Effectiveness
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Supporting quality intervention implementation requires regular observation and feedback to interventionists; however, personnel struggle to find time to complete and provide feedback. Learn how schools can reliably evaluate intervention quality by sampling a portion of the overall lesson to provide more time on consultation.

LEADER(S): Ronda Fritz, Eastern Oregon University, La Grande
PRESENTER(S): Beth Harn, University of Oregon, Eugene
8:00 AM–9:00 AM  SESSION: 578  ROOM: 18

Interpreting Profiles From the Test of Integrated Language and Literacy Skills (TILLS)

TOPIC: Assessment
SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Demonstration

You will practice interpreting profiles from the TILLS and SLS. Interpretation is based on an evidence-based quadrant model for identifying profiles consistent with dyslexia, oral-written language disorders, and specific comprehension deficits, with implications for intervention planning.

LEADER(S): Nickola Nelson, Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo

8:00 AM–9:00 AM  SESSION: 579 • ROOM: 19

CEC-PD SHOWCASE: Special Education: Current and Future Trends

TOPIC: Measuring Special Education Teacher Effectiveness
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Panel

Leaders from the Pioneer Division address ways that the educational system must expand capacity to deliver specialized instruction to address the strengths and needs of increasingly diverse populations of students with exceptionalities. Findings from a national survey involving CEC members are discussed.

LEADER(S): Susan Fowler, University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign
PRESENTER(S): Mary Ruth Coleman, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

8:00 AM–9:00 AM  SESSION: 580  ROOM: 20

Teacher2Teacher: Remixing the Curriculum: The Teacher’s Guide to Technology in the Classroom

TOPIC: Technology and Media
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Learn how Remixing the Curriculum offers educators a way to rethink traditional curricular approaches through a ‘curricular remix.’ In this session we will explore the XFW and describe a number of free or low-cost technology tools that help classroom teachers to maximize every student’s potential.

LEADER(S): Elizabeth Stringer Keefe, Lesley University, Cambridge, MA

8:00 AM–9:00 AM  SESSION: 581  ROOM: 21

University Inclusion: Perspectives of Dual Enrollment Program Directors

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Dual enrollment programs are on the rise in the U.S. to provide students with disabilities an inclusive college experience with their same-age peers. Learn the perceptions of program directors on the effectiveness of dual enrollment programs, specifically the social/academic benefits for students with disabilities.

LEADER(S): Mariha Shields, Indiana University of Pennsylvania

8:00 AM–9:00 AM  SESSION: 582  ROOM: 22

Investigating the Effects of Evidence-Based Strategies on Word Problems With Regrouping

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

We will demonstrate several evidence-based strategies to improve problem-solving skills and computation with regrouping. The effects of research to investigate evidence-based practices on four common word problem situations and computation with regrouping will be discussed.

LEADER(S): Bradley Kaffar, St. Cloud State University, MN
PRESENTER(S): Margaret Vanderwarrn, Osseo School District MN ISD #279

8:00 AM–9:00 AM  SESSION: 583  ROOM: 23

STRAND I, Session 1: Improving Self-Determination and Paragraph Writing with GO 4 IT...NOW! Strategy Instruction

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
SECONDARY TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder / Intellectual Disabilities
FORMAT: Demonstration

We will describe the mounting research base for GO 4 IT...NOW! strategy instruction: its effectiveness for increasing students’ writing skills, results of previous studies, and how to use it in the classroom. Learn how to use this strategy to teach paragraph writing skills while also teaching self-determination skills.

LEADER(S): Moira Konrad, The Ohio State University, Columbus
PRESENTER(S): Kelly Clark, University of North Carolina, Charlotte
8:00 AM–9:00 AM SESSION: 584 ROOM: 24

STRAND J, Session 1: Project LEE: PLUSS Model

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

We highlight Project LEE, which aims to improve the literacy and language outcomes for ELs in Grades 3-5 who are at-risk or with disabilities using a replicable model - PLUSS. This model is an evidence-based overlay to literacy intervention programs that focuses on ELs’ unique language and cultural contexts.

LEADER(S): Julie Esparza Brown, Portland State University, OR
PRESENTER(S): Amanda Sanford, Portland State University, OR

8:00 AM–9:00 AM SESSION: 585 ROOM: 25

STRAND K, Session 1: Sexual Health for People With Disabilities: Historical Perspectives, Current Policy, and Law

TOPIC: Public Policy
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

People with disabilities have historically been mistreated and undereducated. The significantly higher rates of sexual abuse and maltreatment are linked to historical perspectives influencing today's policy regarding sexual health education. Finding an effective approach has never been more legislatively relevant.

LEADER(S): Elizabeth Harkins, University of Pittsburgh, Johnstown
PRESENTER(S): David Bateman, Shippensburg University, PA; Thomas Gibbon, Shippensburg University

8:00 AM–8:45 AM SESSION: 588 ROOM: POSTER 1, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

Implementing Morphological Vocabulary Practices and Improving the Academic Achievement of Students With Disabilities

SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

We present the findings of a quasi-experimental study examining the effects of participation in a PD innovation for secondary science teachers, specifically teaching them to integrate evidence-based morphological vocabulary practices into their instruction. We will share and discuss the results.

LEADER(S): Alexandra Lauterbach, University of Massachusetts, Amherst
PRESENTER(S): Amber Benedict, University of Florida, Gainesville

8:00 AM–8:45 AM SESSION: 589 ROOM: POSTER 10, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

Promoting Independence for Individuals With Intellectual Disabilities Through Assistive Technology

TOPIC: Technology and Media
SECONDARY TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder / Intellectual Disabilities
FORMAT: Poster Session

Join us for an opportunity to learn and experience AT apps designed to assist individuals with meal planning and food shopping, community navigation, and prompting and teaching complex tasks in the workplace and home. Learn how the apps help individuals with ID perform tasks independently and efficiently.

LEADER(S): Friggita Johnson, Clemson University, SC
PRESENTER(S): Virginia Morash-MacNeil, University of South Florida, Tampa; Jill Shelnut, Clemson University, SC

8:00 AM–8:45 AM SESSION: 590 ROOM: POSTER 11, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

Using Multimedia-Based Instruction to Improve Preservice Teacher Knowledge About EBPS for Reading Comprehension Instruction

TOPIC: Technology and Media
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

We present the results of a study that examined different modes for presenting instruction on reading comprehension strategies to preservice teachers. Implications for teacher education programs will be discussed and how this can benefit preservice teacher knowledge and application.

LEADER(S): Kat Alves, Longwood University, Farmville, VA
PRESENTER(S): Michael Kennedy, University of Virginia, Charlottesville
8:00 AM–8:45 AM SESSION: 591 ROOM: POSTER 12, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

Conducting Practitioner Research in Sensory Disabilities

TOPIC: Visual Impairments
SECONDARY TOPIC: Communicative Disabilities and Deafness
FORMAT: Poster Session

Learn the basic principles of conducting practitioner research including defining the types, tips for identifying a problem of interest and shaping this into a question, consideration of data sources, analyzing data, and developing an action plan. We provide resources for each phase of practitioner research.

LEADER(S): Susan Bruce, Boston College, Chestnut Hill, MA
PRESENTER(S): Brent Stutzman, Boston College, Chestnut Hill, MA; Allison Nannemann, Boston College, MA/Carroll Center for the Blind, Newton, MA

Using Your Hands to Teach Math: Examination of the Use of Gestures During an Intensive Math Intervention

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

Gestures utilized by educators during math instruction can reduce the cognitive load and impact student learning when used simultaneously with speech to build conceptualization and link new content with prior knowledge. We discuss the use of gestures by a math tutor during an intervention with students with math difficulty.

Girls and STEM: Improved Math Performance and Confidence Through Intensive Word-Problem Intervention

SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Fewer girls than boys participate in STEM and pursue STEM careers. To increase girls’ participation and performance in math, we provided a 16-week word-problem intervention to 3rd-grade students with math difficulty. Girls who received the intervention outperformed students in the control condition.

The Reading Achievement Gap and Students With Disabilities: Why It Matters

TOPIC: Accountability Systems for Students with Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Public Policy
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The reading achievement gap between students with and without disabilities is equivalent to just over 3 years of annual reading gains. We examined variables that influence the size of the achievement gap and what this gap means for teachers and policymakers. Learn how to use the achievement gap in goal setting and interpreting intervention effects.

Session 677: Room 14

RAISING THE BAR ON CO-TEACHING: INCORPORATING SPECIALLY DESIGNED INSTRUCTION

TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR(S): Jennifer Holbrook, University of Central Florida, Orlando

- Beyond the Six Models: Instruction in Co-Taught Mathematics and Social Studies Classrooms

  Instruction in secondary co-taught classes should incorporate a combination of EBPs from the content area and from special education. We describe what this combination might look like and demonstrate the combination of practices in action within high school mathematics and social studies co-taught classrooms.

  LEADER(S): Wendy Rodgers, University of Nevada, Las Vegas
  PRESENTER(S): Margaret Weiss, George Mason University, Fairfax, VA; John Romig, University of Virginia, Charlottesville; Michael Kennedy, University of Virginia, Charlottesville

- Delivering Specially Designed Instruction in Inclusive Classrooms: Maximizing Outcomes Through Flexible Groupings

  Flexible grouping practices have a positive impact on academic outcomes for students with disabilities when based on formative assessment and progress monitoring data, and used to deliver specially designed instruction. Learn research-based grouping practices and techniques for implementation in co-taught classrooms.

  LEADER(S): Lori Korinek, College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, VA
  PRESENTER(S): Cathleen Buyn, College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, VA
IMPLEMENTING ACC SUPPORTS IN THE CLASSROOM FOR STUDENTS WITH COMPLEX COMMUNICATION NEEDS

TOPIC: Technology and Media
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR(S): Janet Good, University of South Florida, Tampa

- A Step-by-Step Process in Designing IEPs for Students With Complex Communication Needs

  A key element in writing IEPs is identifying skills for increasing independence and strategies for implementation. This session will focus on how special education teachers can incorporate augmentative and alternative communication strategies into the IEP and key considerations of this process.

  LEADER(S): Alexandra Da Fonte, Vanderbilt University, Nashville, TN
  PRESENTER(S): Miriam Boesch; University of North Texas, Denton

- Florida Sun Shines on Systematic Approach to AAC Implementation

  An analysis of the knowledge, skills, and attitudes that educators possess, and those they require, to provide legally compliant AT implementation is a great challenge. Florida committed to a multiyear plan to implement the Environmental Communication Teaching, a series of workshops on the use of AAC supports in the classroom.

  LEADER(S): Janet Good, University of South Florida, Tampa
  PRESENTER(S): Susan McCloskey; Consultant, Ponce Inlet, FL

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Demonstration
In this session participants will learn and practice a research-based procedure for effectively and efficiently selecting vocabulary from content area textbooks. You will also learn to implement the procedure with your context area textbook or supplemental informational text.

  LEADER(S): Joseph Dimino, Instructional Research Group, Los Alamitos, CA

TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A
To ensure that new special education teachers are learner ready day one, teacher educators and district personnel must approach the task of developing and supporting new teachers differently. We discuss how practice-based approaches to teacher education can create stronger connections between preparation and induction and help develop and retain effective special education teachers.

  LEADER(S): Mary Brownell, CEDAR Center, University of Florida, Gainesville

TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A
Learn to build a community of acceptance schoolwide through social/emotional learning and opportunities for collaboration between special and general education students. Leave with research-based strategies and a toolbox of how to build social/emotional development between all students.

  LEADER(S): Bethany Reilly, District Five of Lexington and Richland Counties, SC
  PRESENTER(S): Brenna Lamprey, District Five of Lexington and Richland Counties, SC

Using General Case Analysis to Develop Simulated Instruction for Secondary Students With Disabilities

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Simulated instruction uses simulations that approximate the natural stimulus conditions and response associated with performing functional skills. Learn how to use general case programming to develop efficient, cost-effective simulated instruction to support generalization and maintenance of transition skills.

LEADER(S): Dana Rusher, University of North Carolina, Charlotte
PRESENTER(S): Dawn Rowe, National Technical Assistance Center on Transition/University of Oregon, Eugene; Valerie Mazzotti, University of Oregon, Eugene

10:30 AM–11:30 AM  SESSION: 685  ROOM: 22
Teacher2Teacher: Exploring the Virtual Learning Environment: Learning Intervention Without Boundaries for SEN

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Practical evidence of the numerous uses of the VLE to significantly improve the effectiveness of learning interventions and to increase achievement for students with SEN will be highlighted and explored. Learn strategies that will accelerate the learning of your students with learning difficulties.

LEADER(S): Adewunmi Payne-Akinhanmi, Grange School, Lagos, Nigeria

10:30 AM–11:30 AM  SESSION: 687  ROOM: 24
STRAND J, Session 3: Project ELITE: English Learner Institute Teaching and Excellence

SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Learn about Project ELITE, which uses a culturally responsive multiltiered instructional framework for addressing the unique language and learning needs of ELs in the elementary grades. A primary goal of the project is to support pedagogical change through a job-embedded PD model that emphasizes self-reflection and assessment, and supports sustainability.

STRAND I, Session 3: Promoting Self-Management Within STEM for Students With Autism and Intellectual Disability

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
SECONDARY TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder / Intellectual Disabilities
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

We will demonstrate how to promote independence in STEM learning by teaching self-management through self-monitoring using a pictorial task analysis. Many STEM tasks require problem solving, which can be difficult for students with ASD/ID. Learn research-based strategies to teach students self-management within STEM tasks.

LEADER(S): Jenny Root, Florida State University, Tallahassee
PRESENTER(S): Victoria Knight, Vanderbilt University, Nashville, TN

Using the ‘Teaching Tools for Young Children With Challenging Behavior’ in Kindergarten Classrooms

TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention
SECONDARY TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder / Intellectual Disabilities
FORMAT: Poster Session
This session presents the results of a single-subject study that demonstrated successful use of the Teaching Tools for Young Children With Challenging Behavior (TTYC) in kindergarten classrooms to support children with autism who are developing severe challenging behavior.

LEADER(S): Kwang-Sun Blair, University of South Florida, Tampa

10:30 AM–11:15 AM  SESSION: 692  ROOM: POSTER 10, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

Fitness Trackers: Using Technology to Teach Goal Setting and Attainment

TOPIC: Technology and Media
SECONDARY TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder / Intellectual Disabilities
FORMAT: Poster Session
Learn how Fitbits and other types of technology can be used to promote healthy lifestyles in educational settings. Adults with a DD were taught to set exercise and nutrition goals and monitor progress using a Fitbit. We will discuss the positive results and strategies for teaching goal setting and attainment.

LEADER(S): Karen Douglas, Illinois State University, Normal
PRESENTER(S): Nicole Uphold, Illinois State University, Normal

10:30 AM–11:15 AM  SESSION: 693  ROOM: POSTER 11, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

Keyboarding Versus Handwriting: Are There Differences for Students With a Learning Disability?

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Technology and Media
FORMAT: Poster Session
As many as 75% of students struggle with writing skills. This number has increased where students employed pen and paper; the CCSS now emphasize students’ use of keyboarding in Grades 2 and following. We discuss research about students’ writing products using handwriting/stylus or keyboarding.

LEADER(S): Michael Dunn, Washington State University, Vancouver

10:30 AM–11:15 AM  SESSION: 694  ROOM: POSTER 12, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

Mathematics Computer-Assisted Instructions (CAI) for Students With Learning Difficulties: A Research Synthesis

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Technology and Media
FORMAT: Poster Session
Our study analyzed the effect of CAI to facilitate the mathematics performance for students with or at risk for learning difficulties in mathematics at the elementary and secondary level. The results indicated that CAI was effective in promoting mathematics performance for these students.

LEADER(S): Soojung Kim, Purdue University, West Lafayette, IN

10:30 AM–11:15 AM  SESSION: 695  ROOM: POSTER 13, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

The Effects of a Multisensory Approach to the Mastery of Basic Multiplication Facts on Elementary Students With LD

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Technology and Media
FORMAT: Poster Session
Elementary school students with LD often struggle in mathematics and specifically in foundational multiplication computation. We share the findings of this study which investigated the influence of multisensory instruction on the mastery of multiplication facts for elementary students with LD.

LEADER(S): Kelly Green, Florida International University, Miami

10:30 AM–11:15 AM  SESSION: 696  ROOM: POSTER 14, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

Reducing Implicit Bias in Educational Settings: Strategies and Recommendations

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Poster Session
There has been a growing awareness about implicit bias and its role in educational practices. We will discuss specific PD activities developed to reduce the impact of these unconscious attitudes within schools. You will practice PD strategies to improve culturally responsive practices.

Utilizing Classroom Meetings to Create Culturally Responsive and Inclusive Communities

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Poster Session

Teachers who enter classrooms with a lack of multicultural competence have a difficult time forming relationships, and managing behavior and communication patterns of CLD students. Learn how classroom meetings are a culturally responsive intervention to develop communities that support all students.

LEADER(S): Yelena Patish, University of Washington, Seattle

We’ve Come So Far, Haven’t We?

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Poster Session

We’ve come so far, haven’t we? This question was posed as we studied the experiences of families in Russia and made comparisons across cultures. We discuss the underlying issues faced by families with disabilities and provide valuable information to guide practitioners when collaborating with families.

LEADER(S): Martha Howard, Tennessee Tech University, Cookeville
PRESENTER(S): Amy Callender, Tennessee Technological University, Cookeville

2:15 PM–3:00 PM  SESSION: 788  ROOM: POSTER 14, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

Video Modeling for Students With ASD and ID: A Meta-Analysis

TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder / Intellectual Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Technology and Media
FORMAT: Poster Session

This meta-analysis reviews 19 single-subject studies including 65 participants with ASD or ID. Included studies investigated the use of VM to improve independent living skills of students with ASD or ID. We will discuss the efficacy of VM for the two student populations.

LEADER(S): Kaylee Wynkoop, Indiana University of Pennsylvania
2:15 PM–3:00 PM  SESSION: 789  ROOM: POSTER 15, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

Using Video Modeling to Teach Soft Skills to Young Adults With ID

TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder / Intellectual Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
FORMAT: Poster Session

This session will present data and information regarding why and how to use video modeling to teach soft skills for young adults with ID. The effectiveness of the video modeling as well as how students and teacher find the video modeling approach beneficial to teach soft skills will be shared.

LEADER(S): Jiyoon Park, Michigan State University, East Lansing
PRESENTER(S): Emily Bouck, Michigan State University, East Lansing

2:15 PM–3:00 PM  SESSION: 790  ROOM: POSTER 16, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

The Use of an iPad to Promote Early Numeracy Skills Through Virtual Manipulatives

TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder / Intellectual Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

The use of iPads to support learning for students with disability is on the rise. We discuss the results of a study that focused on the use of virtual manipulatives via an iPad application to increase early numeracy skill acquisition through evidence-based systematic prompting and feedback.

LEADER(S): Bree Jimenez, University of Sydney/Mater Dei School, Australia

2:15 PM–3:00 PM  SESSION: 791  ROOM: POSTER 17, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

Transition Components of Saudi Students With Disabilities: An Evaluation of Their IEPs

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
SECONDARY TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder / Intellectual Disabilities
FORMAT: Poster Session

Transition planning and services have important components such as training, courses, and working on job sites to ensure they are prepared for independent life. We evaluated the transition components of Saudi students’ IEPs and will discuss the services and components of transition for them.

LEADER(S): Hussain Almalky, Prince Sattam bin Abdulaziz University, Saudi Arabia

2:15 PM–3:00 PM  SESSION: 792  ROOM: POSTER 18, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

Creating Career Opportunities for Students With Disabilities: Transition to Employment

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Poster Session

This session focuses on PRIDE initiatives that address the growing skills gap in today’s demanding workforce within the construction trade industry. Learn how this can be accomplished by building industrial and educational partnerships, supporting transitional programs, and increasing community involvement.

LEADER(S): Lonny Wright, PRIDE ASCEND / PRIDE Industries, El Paso, TX

2:15 PM–3:00 PM  SESSION: 793  ROOM: POSTER 2, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

A Snapshot of RTI Implementation a Decade Later: New Picture, Same Story?

SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Poster Session

We provide a snapshot of the implementation of state RTI models throughout the country. Findings are presented from a current study that systematically reviewed information about the implementation of RTI in each state. The influence of policy and research on state practices will be discussed.

LEADER(S): Sheri Berkeley, George Mason University, Fairfax, VA
PRESENTER(S): Donna Sacco, University of North Carolina, Charlotte

2:15 PM–3:00 PM  SESSION: 794  ROOM: POSTER 3, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

Monolingual Bias in IDEA Identification of Bi/Multilingual Students With or At Risk for Disabilities

TOPIC: Public Policy
SECONDARY TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Poster Session

Monolingual bias on SLA has imposed deficit views on ELLs in educational research, policy, and practice. We will discuss monolingual perspectives and deficit views in special education policy to resolve the persistent issues of misidentification and disproportional placement of bi/multilingual students.

LEADER(S): Sumin Mullins, University of Kansas, Lawrence
PRESENTER(S): Gregory Cheatham, University of Kansas, Lawrence
2:15 PM–3:00 PM  SESSION: 795  ROOM: POSTER 4, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

Doing and Seeing: Supportive Instruction in a Clinical Semester and the Feedback Provided by Supervisors

TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation

FORMAT: Poster Session

This session provides information on the instructional techniques demonstrated by preservice teachers during their clinical semester in a general education classroom, and the reflective feedback provided by supervisors. Findings will be shared that provide examples of practice.

LEADER(S): Rebecca Elder Hinshaw, Indiana State University, Terre Haute
PRESENTER(S): Robin Burden, Indiana State University, Terre Haute; Shawn Huisinga, Indiana State University, Terre Haute

2:15 PM–3:00 PM  SESSION: 796  ROOM: POSTER 5, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

Integrating Specially Designed Instruction in Co-Taught Inclusive Classrooms.

TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
SECONDARY TOPIC: Measuring Special Education Teacher Effectiveness

FORMAT: Poster Session

We will consider how specially designed instruction can be effectively delivered in co-taught classrooms. Who can/should deliver this instruction? What are effective delivery mechanisms? How does planning impact delivery and student outcomes? Explore these questions and answers from teachers in co-taught classrooms.

LEADER(S): Barbara Serianni, Armstrong State University, Savannah, GA
PRESENTER(S): Kelly Brooksher, Armstrong State University, Savannah, GA

2:15 PM–3:00 PM  SESSION: 797  ROOM: POSTER 6, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

Special Education Teacher Retention: Principal Support

TOPIC: Administration/Supervision

FORMAT: Poster Session

Learn the results of a study that indicate that principals perceive themselves providing support to special education teachers much more frequently than the teachers perceive receiving it. We identify areas for school district personnel and their leadership teams to better support and retain special education teachers.

LEADER(S): Steven Bailey, Madison Middle School/Vista Unified District, CA

2:15 PM–3:00 PM  SESSION: 798  ROOM: POSTER 7, EAST HALL, 3RD FL

Connecting Preparation, Practice, and Professionalism Through CEC Involvement

SECONDARY TOPIC: Administration/Supervision

FORMAT: Poster Session

We examine the role of professional organizations in providing support for preservice teacher involvement in organizations such as student chapters of CEC. Such involvement can provide support between preparation and early employment, reduce teacher attrition, and improve satisfaction in careers.

LEADER(S): Shirley Dawson, Weber State University, Ogden, UT
PRESENTER(S): Natalie Williams, Weber State University, Ogden, UT; Nate Marsden, Canyons School District, UT; Melissa Vaughn, Weber State University, Ogden, UT

PRESENTER(S): Calli Lewis, California State University, Bakersfield
Program Advisory Committee

The Program Advisory Committee (PAC) headed by chairpersons, Claudia Rinaldi and Cindy Perras, reviewed over 1,200 proposals as a result of the convention Call for Presentations and Papers. The PAC reviews proposals with multiple goals in mind including constructing a timely, comprehensive, and balanced program that appeals to the many varied interests of convention attendees while seeking to build, maintain, and energize the professional community. The Program Chairs, members of the committee, representatives from CEC’s Divisions, and CEC leaders, represent all areas of expertise in the field and have worked hard to provide presentations of high quality and diversity to benefit you—our valued convention attendee.

NOTES
Local Arrangements Committee

Lisa Jester and Diana Morales, CEC 2018 Local Arrangements Co-Chairpersons began working more than a year ago preparing for CEC 2018. A remarkable group of individuals accepted responsibilities to cover important tasks such as staffing registration, program hosts, the CEC Store, and attending to the myriad other details vital to the successful operation of the convention. CEC relies heavily on volunteers and it is because of their efforts and dedication that the CEC 2018 Convention & Expo is a professional development activity of the highest quality.

A very special thank you to following individuals:

ACCESSIBILITY:
Kim Pavlounis, Orange County Public Schools
Harold Thomas, Dunbar High School

DIVERSITY:
Melissa Bollacker, The Florida Institute for Community Inclusion
